DEFENSE SEEKS TO HAVE NIGHT RIDE CASE THROWN OUT OF COURT

Introduce Evidence That Case is Champertous Because it Was Instigated and Maintained by C. B. Ballard Instead of by the Plaintiff—Governor Philipp is Dragged Into the Case by Defense Council

Sensation is expected to develop in the trial of the night rider case this afternoon if events transpiring this morning are an indication of what is to follow. Information available indicated that President J. N. Tittmore of the Wisconsin Society of Equity would appear for the defense at some time during the afternoon and that his appearance would mean a reopening of the old sectional fight between Equity factions.

The defense has summoned Tittmore and when the case closed for the noon recess at 11:20 o'clock, it was understood that he would be on hand to take the witness stand at 1:30 o'clock. It is believed that Tittmore and Ballard are not on friendly terms although Tittmore acted with Ballard in attempting to secure warrants for the arrest of members of the night riding party.

That the "night rider" case was champertous and should be thrown out of court was the outstanding issue in yesterday afternoon's cross examination of witnesses. The testimony taken by the defense laid the foundation for a motion to dismiss on the ground of champerty.

Clinton B. Ballard, assemblyman from the first Outagamie county district, and Mr. Deml were the only witnesses summoned for examination up to the close of the afternoon session. Testimony was introduced to prove to the jury that Mr. Ballard and not Mr. Deml, was the instigator of the civil action, and that it was presumably done to promote the former's political aims.

The most striking argument to uphold the contention of the defense was the admission by Mr. Deml that he knew practically nothing of the contents of the complaint which he had signed under oath. This admission was made in answer to questions put by Attorney P. H. Martin of the defense. He testified that the papers had been brought to him while at work in his own field, that one or two paragraphs had been read to him, and that he "later" came to the city and signed the complaint. He also admitted that he did not know how much money had been raised for defense of the case, that he had no idea what arrangements were made with the attorneys, and that he was not familiar with what the case was going to cost.

Ballard is Grilled—Attorney Martin took most of the afternoon with his cross examination after both sides had addressed the jury setting forth the facts in the case. He raised the issue of champerty, and the examination of witnesses on that ground started. In his questions to Ballard, he spared the man in no way, becoming ironical at times, and calling the witness to task for answers that to him appeared evasive or not in reply to the question asked. He attempted to introduce into the records the fact that Ballard was attempting to divert the attention of his constituents from his unfavorable vote on the constitutional prohibition amendment, by pushing the issue of champerty. Mr. Martin was overruled at the objection of Henry Cochems, attorney for the plaintiff.

Answers to a rapid-fire series of questions brought out the activity of the assemblyman among members of the county and state unions of the American Society of Equity to raise funds for prosecuting the case; of his visits to Governor Philipp, and of his attempts to bring the matter up in the legislature as an issue. It was also pointed out that he had recently made an issue of the case in an address before the Trades and Labor Council in Appleton.

Several times Mr. Ballard came near making contradictory statements, and modified some which he did make. The chronological procedure from the day of the assault was drawn out by the defense in an attempt to show how Mr. Ballard had "ezzed" Mr. Deml on to start suit against the alleged offenders.

When asked what business it was of his, Mr. Ballard practically summed up his whole series of answers with the assertion that he had taken part in the case as a citizen interested in justice.

Easier on Deml—Once or twice during the trial, a tittering was heard among spectators composed largely of farmers, who filled every chair in the court room. An outburst that led Judge Reid to call for order was the remark by Mr. Ballard that Judge Spencer had said to Mr. Deml, "John, you ought to have had a shot gun and shot their d—n heads off," referring to the alleged assaults of the plaintiff.

When Mr. Deml was asked to take the stand Attorney Martin softened considerably and was much gentler in his questioning. No attempt was made to make him submit to the grueling which was Mr. Ballard's lot. The witness was quite free in his answers except where the lapse of time had made it difficult for him to remember.

Ignorant of Action—It was here that the questioning brought out the fact that Mr. Deml was unfamiliar with the contents of the complaint. He was shown the document with his signature, and admitted that part of it had been read to him, but that he had not taken care to read the remainder, because he "would not understand the big words used anyway."

Mr. Deml was able to relate practically nothing as to what had been done to raise money, as to the engaging of counsel and as to the other preliminary arrangements for the trial. He testified that he had started for Appleton the day following the assault, with the intention of seeing Gustave Keller, chairman of the County Council of Defense, and making the subscription demanded by the "night riders."

The issue as to why Mr. Deml changed his mind was brought up, and an attempt made to prove that he had done so only after he had picked up Mr. Ballard and given him a ride to town in his automobile.

Attorney's Wangle—In his cross-examination of Mr. Ballard, Attorney Cochems made scant headway, objection being raised continually by Attorney Martin either as to the relevancy of the evidence, or as to the proper conduct of a cross examination. Objection was also raised because of the plaintiff's attorney using "leading" questions to gain from the witness the answers desired to influence the jury.

Attempts were also made at several points to bring in something about the case of Mr. Black, who was also an alleged victim of the night visitation, especially the fact that Mr. Black's mind had become unbalanced and he was obliged to go to an institution for treatment. Arguments on both sides prevented these facts from going into the records of the court.

The defense resumed its examination of Deml this morning and although the witness was apparently better informed than he seemed to be on Wednesday, he did not have a lucid understanding of either his own case or the events which led to the present action. He frequently took refuge behind the remark "I don't remember" to escape from the persistent questioning of Attorney Martin.

He did not remember having heard Judge Spencer of the Municipal court promise him a warrant for assault and battery, as the Judge asserts he did after nor did he remember much of any of the information which came out during his visit to either District Attorney Catlin or Judge Spencer. He said he did not know how many witnesses would be brought up in his case nor did he know who the witnesses would be. He admitted that he went to the clerk of court's office Wednesday evening after the court session to look over the records in the case. He was asked what an assault and battery warrant action meant and stated that he had been informed that it was about the same as "two women quarreling and then sitting down to take a cup of tea together."

Ballard on Stand—Attorney Martin then called Ballard to the stand and asked whether or not he had the copies of the letters which he had written to the governor. Ballard said that he had tried hard to find the copies but could not do so. He said he did not know who the stenographer was who had written the letters or where he was at the time he dictated the letters.

Attorney Martin then asked him whether or not it was not true that he had never made copies of the letters because they contained charges that the governor was evading the question and was "cohoosing" with the defendants or people making up the "night riding" party. Attorney Cochems objected vigorously to this but Ballard answered "no."

Ballard stated that he gave $150 to the fund for bringing the case to trial but admitted that he had to date only paid $50 of that amount. He stated that the Equity local of Apple Creek gave $255.00. A subscription list which he produced showed that the sum of $300 had stood opposite the name of the above organization but that this had been crossed out and the sum $255.00 substituted. He said that the National Society of Equity had given $25.00 toward the fund at the solicitation of himself, Mr. Tittmore of the Society of Equity, Mr. Vaughn, vice president of the organization and J. Weller Long, state secretary and treasurer. The list showed that Deml himself had subscribed $150 and that John Jackies had also subscribed that sum.

He asserted throughout that in obtaining the funds for the case he was acting as one Equity man under the terms of that organization calling for "all for one, one for all," and claimed that the American Society of Equity was furnishing funds to carry the case through because Deml and others visited by the night riders were Equity men.

Attorney Mark Catlin was called and "old of the visit" of Ballard, Tittmore and Deml to his office a few days after the alleged assault of Deml. He stated that they asked for a warrant claiming "assault with intent to do great bodily injury" but that he had refused it because no intent had

NIGHT RIDER CASE DISMISSED

Judge A. H. Reid at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon dismissed the case of John Deml against Stephen D. Balliet, Dr. A. E. Rector and Dr. D. O'Connor. Attorneys for the defense alleged the suit was "champertous", that is, it was started and maintained by parties not directly interested. C. B. Ballard was named as the instigator of the action. Motion for dismissal of the case was entered yesterday afternoon and testimony to prove contentions of the defense was immediately introduced.

Senate Downs Three Changes In Peace Pact

Disposition To Reach Final Vote on Treaty of Peace Without Delay is Indicated in Today's Action

By United Press Leased Wire—Washington, D. C.—Displaying a disposition to get a final vote on the peace treaty without much more delay, the senate today began voting on the remaining reservations.

It rejected 27 to 48 a reservation proposed by Senator Reed providing that the United States keeps to itself the right to decide what questions affect its national honor and interest and withholding all such questions from the jurisdiction of the league of nations.

Following defeat of this, Reed offered another, providing that the United States assumes no obligations to use its military or naval forces under any article of the treaty for any purpose.

This also was rejected 17 to 52. He offered another in almost the same language. It also was beaten.

Cummings, who was presiding, overruled a point of order against the Thomson amendment. Hitchcock said the Gerry reservation was in entire harmony both with the league of nations and the attitude of the senate which last June adopted a resolution expressing sympathy with the Irish people to obtain self-government.

NAVY SUCCEEDED IN SPITE OF HANDICAP, SIMS TELLS PROBERS

YANKEE SEAMEN COVERED SELVES WITH GLORY IN SPITE OF MENT'S DELAY.

By United Press Leased Wire—Washington—Rear Admiral William S. Sims today completed his case against the navy department's conduct of the war with a tribute to the achievements of the navy in face of the handicap of a "vacillating policy," "misdirection" and "dangerous delay" by Washington.

Senators will begin cross examination of the admiral tomorrow. His preliminary statement, one of the longest ever read to a senate committee, covers nearly 200 closely printed pages, totalling 120,000 words. He went into minute detail regarding operations during the war, quoting from scores of secret cables and referring to literally hundreds of others.

"We of the navy can take pride in the record that was achieved," Sims said in conclusion. "Great as was this record I think I have said enough to convince you that it would have been infinitely more effective if the policies ultimately adopted by the navy had been put into effect the moment we entered the war, instead of after dangerous delay of many months. These achievements should gain greater independence in the public

PETER THOM DIES SUDDENLY TODAY IN CALIFORNIA

PROMINENT CITIZEN AND FAMOUS PAPER MILL MAN DIES EARLY THIS MORNING

FAMOUS PAPER MILL MAN
Was General Superintendent of Kimberly-Clark Company for 32 Years—Mayor of Appleton for Three Years

Peter R. Thom, about 69 years old, one of the most prominent citizens of Wisconsin, and one of the best known papermill men in the United States, died early this morning of heart disease at Hollywood, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles, where he had been visiting since January. Information of the death was contained in a telegram received early today by his son, George Thom, from Mrs. Thom. No details were given and no arrangements for the funeral have been made. It is presumed the body will be brought to Appleton but no definite information was available.

Mr. Thom went to California with Mrs. Thom and their son Edgar in January. According to information here, Edgar was at San Francisco when his father died but Mrs. Thom was with her husband.

The decedent is survived by his widow; two sons, Edgar and George; three daughters, Mrs. Helen Roemer, Miss Mary and Miss Lois. Mrs. Roemer's home is in Detroit but she has been visiting here for some time.

Mr. Thom was general superintendent of the Kimberly-Clark Paper company for 32 years and was a director of the company for a large portion of that time. He had not been actively connected with the company for about five years, the condition of his health forcing his retirement. He was a large stockholder in the company up to his death, however. During his active connection with the Kimberly-Clark company he was regarded as the best all around paper manufacturer in the United States.

Mr. Thom was not in the best of health when he left here for the west. Information received here indicated that he was taken seriously ill late last night and that death occurred early this morning.

The decedent is a native of Scotland where he lived until about fifteen years of age. Shortly after coming to the United States he became an apprentice of the Smith, Winchester Company of South Windham, Conn., and learned the machinery building trade, specializing in paper machinery. He made such rapid progress in his work that after a few years he was sent out by the company as a paper mill machinery erector. All this time he was studying paper manufacturing and after a few years he left the machinery business and entered the paper industry. He was superintendent of several mills in various parts of the country before he became connected with the Kimberly-Clark company about 37 years ago. Mr. Thom came to Appleton from Indiana immediately after becoming connected with the big local company and had been a resident of this city ever since.

Mr. Thom was president and director of the Appleton Chair company at the time of his death. He was also a director of the First National bank. At one time he was vice president and a heavy stockholder in the Riverside Fibre and Paper company but severed his connection with that concern some years ago.

Mr. Thom served the city of Appleton in many capacities and was its mayor in 1894, 1895 and 1896. He has held many positions of public trust and was regarded as one of Appleton's most prominent men. Fraternally he was a Knight of Pythias, Odd Fellow, Mason and Shriner.

Since retiring from active business, Mr. Thom has kept in close touch with civic and patriotic movements and during the war was a member of the Council of Defense and chairman of the War Chest committee.

Announcement of Mr. Thom's death this morning was received with the greatest surprise and was a shock to every person who heard of it. Although it was generally known his health was not of the best it was not believed he was in any particular danger of death.

mind when it is realized they were accomplished not because of an equal amount of efficiency in the higher command but in spite of long delays in action and violations of fundamental military principles committed by the high command in the first months of the war. The personnel of our navy afloat had to struggle with the enemy and also endure the handicap of a vacillating policy and of misdirection such as I have repeatedly pointed out."

Sims claimed that reserve officers in the war zone worked without promotions while those of equal rank at home were promoted one and two grades.

The State Department has received a report that there are approximately 8,000 cases of typhus fever in Eastern Russia, with a mortality ranging from 20 to 40 per cent.

TREATY SHOULD BE ACCEPTED AT ONCE HOOVER DECLARES

WORLD AND UNITED STATES SHOULD NOT BE KEPT WAITING ANY LONGER, HOOVER SAYS

AMERICA IS PROTECTED
Former Food Director Says Reservations Do Not Destroy Purpose of League and Should be Accepted by President

By United Press Leased Wire—Washington, D. C.—Herbert Hoover today declared the peace treaty should be accepted, "so long as the final form gives us freedom of action and room for constructive development of peace."

He also said that the rowing state of international antagonism cannot be moderated until the United States joins the league of nations.

In a statement prepared for the Washington Star, the former food administrator asserted that the reservations proposed to the treaty should "satisfy the most timid as to entanglements."

"Regardless of what any of us may think should have been the provisions of either the league or the treaty, we and the world should not be kept waiting longer for a settlement," Hoover said.

"The whole process of peace has been necessarily one of compromise and so long as the final form gives us freedom of action and room for constructive development of peace, I believe it should be accepted."

"The reservations should satisfy the most timid as to entanglements, and despite the feeling of the president and his associates, that the strength of the league is somewhat undermined, I believe that they should also accept. I do not believe that the reservations destroy the possibility of the creation of a potent organization to mitigate the dangers in front of us and the alternatives."

"The alternatives are a continuation of our state of war for another year or the unthinkable thing, for us to make a separate peace to 'we have gone so far as to agree to' its main lines with our comrades" in arms.

"Due to this unsettling and other causes that the league would mitigate, the world is steadily drifting back to a worse state of international antagonism than existed before 1914."

The naval strength of every nation, except the enemy and Russia, has been increased during the war. Many great armies have been demobilized, yet the world is again engaged in preparedness and the actual number of men under arms today is much larger than before 1914.

"The president seems to feel that the foundations of the league rests upon our participation (subject to approval of congress on use of force) in an obligation to preserve the territorial integrity and political independence of its members against aggression. Without entering upon this method of prevention of aggression, I believe a great foundation of peace does lie in the continuous functioning of a body of great international relations engaged upon conciliation, the mitigation of antagonism, the very effective boycott of disturbers through arousal of public opinion against them and through the immediate undertaking of disarmament of the world to a simple defensive footing."

YANKS ALONG THE RHINE READY FOR EMERGENCY

By United Press Leased Wire—Paris—American troops along the Rhine "are ready for any emergency" that may arise from the chaotic situation in Germany, Major General Allen, their commander, declared in an interview at Coblenz, received here today.

"The meeting of Allied chiefs called by Marshal Foch was arranged before the coup in Berlin, and hence was not occasioned by it," Allen said. "The question of Allied control beyond the Rhine bridgeheads was not discussed."

"I don't think the von Kapp movement had any reflections along this line, but naturally we could not tell how far it was going to extend. The American troops are in fine condition and ready for any emergency."

After the interview General Allen left for Paris to confer with Hugh Wallace, American ambassador.

DYING MAN CONFESSES TO SLAYING HIS WIFE

By United Press Leased Wire—New York—A man claiming to be George Evans, who was said to have confessed to the murder of Mrs. Geo. Evans, in New Britain, Conn., Tuesday, was in a critical condition at Bellevue hospital today with a gash in his throat following an attempt to commit suicide. Evans, who was registered at a hotel as George Vane, when he tried to take his life, stopped the surgeons at the hospital when they were operating on him to confess the crime, it was said.

Russian soviet newspapers estimate Russian losses in the war at about $16,000,000,000.

GERMAN REVOLUTION SUBSIDES AS LEADERS GIVE UP THE BATTLE

GUNMAN'S SLAYERS DEBATE WHAT TO DO WITH BODY
By United Press Leased Wire—Chicago—The body of Joseph (Hughey) Harley, victim of a gun men's feud here was propped up in a chair in a saloon near the scene of the murder for three hours while the assassins debated what to do with it, according to revelations made to State's Attorney Hoyne today.

John Cronin, bartender in the saloon where the fight with Harley started told Hoyne that the murder was early Wednesday morning but the body was not removed from the saloon until near daybreak, authorities said today.

Revolutionary Dictators Resign When They Find Their Position is Unsafe

German President Orders Arrest of Radical Leaders—Spartan Press Their Effort to Establish the Soviets

The government of Friedrich Ebert, imperial president of Germany, will face widespread demands for drastic industrial and governmental reform when it returns to Berlin, today's dispatches indicated.

The resignation of the revolutionary government, headed by Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp, which seized power in Berlin, March 13, was forced not so much by pressure from the Ebert group as by determination of the radical elements that no reactionary government should stand in Germany, some dispatches said.

There was every indication that the independent socialists and the Spartans will strive to the full extent of their power by force to obtain greater representation in the government, demanding a reorganization with participation of their representatives.

Deputies Daumig and Cohn, leaders of the coalition of independent socialists and communists, which forced the revolutionists out, were reported to have declared the proletarian will not reorganize the workingmen's forces to Ebert's profit but will demand power for itself.

Eugene Schiffer, Ebert's vice chancellor, was reported in temporary charge of the Berlin government. The general strike, called by the Ebert group to defeat the revolutionists, has been called off. Arrest of von Kapp and his principal supporters has been ordered.

One dispatch, quoting information from von Kapp supporters, said that the coalition of independent socialists and communists had decided to set up a government of their own and had selected a cabinet with Herr Daumig as chairman.

London dispatches said the impression prevailed there that the Allies may demand expulsion of the former kaiser from Europe and that the Dutch government may accede.

By United Press Leased Wire—Berlin—The von Kapp counter-revolutionary dictatorship ended last night.

Following resignation of Chancellor von Kapp and General von Luettwitz, Eugene Schiffer, vice chancellor under President Ebert, took over the government at six p. m. Simultaneously the red, white and black flag was hoisted over the government buildings as a symbol of the defeat of the monarchist movement.

The central committee of railway workers at the same time decided to end their strike immediately.

The Ebert government returned to power, has ordered the arrest of Chief von Jagow, Admiral von Trotha, Dr. Brederick, Col. Beyer and Capt. Gerhardt.

Herr Heine and other leaders of the old government left for Stuttgart this morning.

Allied reinforcements arrived in Berlin to assist in maintaining order. Troops took advantage of a meeting of striking workmen of the electrical plants at Charlottenburg to surround the workers and force them to return to their posts, so the plant could be operated to supply Berlin with electricity.

Collapse is Confirmed (By Ed. L. Keen)

London—Complete collapse of the von Kapp-Luettwitz revolt in Germany was confirmed by dispatches here today.

Both the revolutionary dictator and his war minister have resigned, dispatches said. A Copenhagen dispatch quoting the Frankfurter Zeitung said that General von Quelsen had taken over command of troops in Berlin in the name of Gustav Bauer, chancellor under President Ebert.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch early today said the Ebert government was expected to return to Berlin today. An earlier dispatch said the coalition of independent socialists and communists intended to form a soviet republic.

Meantime dispatches indicated that the Spartans continue to press their advantages to organization for a soviet government. A soviet republic has been proclaimed at Eisleben, a Berlin dispatch asserted.

Rebels are Defeated—A Stuttgart dispatch by way of Copenhagen said von Kapp troops had been defeated and disarmed after bloody fighting at Gera, an important place in the play at Kalkauna next month.

WASHINGTON FEARS NEW GERMAN REVOLT

GERMAN - RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIK ALLIANCE WOULD BE MENACE TO WORLD OF OFFICIALS SAY

By United Press Leased Wire—Washington, D. C.—There is grave danger of the new German revolution resulting in a powerful German-Russian bolshevik alliance, an immediate menace to the peace of the world, according to advice received today by diplomats here.

Reports from Germany of Spartacan outbreaks are taken as the first indication of this development. Diplomats fear the next two days will show a sudden and alarming growth in the movement. Working under direction from Moscow, the German bolsheviks are expected to make a determined effort to seize the country and effect an alliance with the soviet government.

The next step, it is believed, would be repudiation of the peace treaty on the ground that German workers did not want the war, and therefore decline to make reparation for it.

So far Secretary Bacher has received no report from Major General Allen commanding the Americans in Germany. From all indications, the territory is quiet.

EXILE OF FORMER KAISER PROBABLE

HOLLAND IS WORRIED OVER POSSIBLE ACTIVITIES OF WILHELM HOHENZOLLERN

By United Press Leased Wire—London—Despite the former kaiser's reported assurance to the Dutch government that he will refrain from all political activities, the belief prevailed in official circles here today that the entente will demand Holland exile him to Cracow (in the West Indies) or the Dutch East Indies.

Although the Kapp coup was short lived, it was said to have furnished Holland with evidence that it will be impossible for Wilhelm to remain in Europe because of the end of the monarchist movement.

Several communications and discussions between the entente and Holland have occurred in the last few days. Yesterday a royal decree was published in Holland confining Wilhelm to that portion of the province of Utrecht in which Amerongen and Doorn are located. At the same time Holland was understood to have informed the entente governments that the strictest precautions would be adopted regarding the ex-kaiser.

The Ebert government, according to reliable information, is extremely anxious that Wilhelm be "properly disposed of" and is willing to acquiesce in his exile.

CAILLAUX TOLD ITALY FRANCE WAS DEFEATED

By United Press Leased Wire—Paris—Interest in the case of former Premier Caillaux, on trial before the senate charged with plotting against France during the war, was revived today.

Depositions were read in the trial yesterday declaring that Caillaux told persons in Italy in 1916 that "France was exhausted and must make peace before fall if the Allied spring offensive failed."

Caillaux predicted, according to the depositions, that France would accept peace on a basis of evacuation of northern France by the Germans, with or without cession of part of Lorraine.

Practically all the testimony of yesterday's session had to do with Caillaux's statements during his Italian visit.

The Misses Hortense Berens, Blanche St. Andrews and Archie Croviere of Kaukauna were in Clintonville to attend the Katcha-Koo opera staged by the American Legion. They are on the committee which will supervise the play at Kaukauna next month.

SEMI-FINALS IN THE SCHOOL TOURNEY ARE PLAYED LAST NIGHT

HECTIC BASKETBALL FEATURES SECOND DISTRICT TOURNAMENT—FINALS TO-MORROW

Yesterday's basketball games in the second school district tournament were the fastest held so far. The amateur eagles fought hard to stay in the race for the finals.

There was more cheering and more spirit than at Monday's games. Classes were there in bodied, gaily decorated with class colors, arm bands and pennants. Nothing ever staged in a college could surpass the demonstrations in the Columbus school gymnasium as the games were played.

In the opening game the Lincoln eighth grade south and the Lincoln seventh staged a bitterly contested match, ending with a score of eight to ten in favor of the Lincoln seventh. Bernard Bonini and Eversell were the point winners for the eighth graders, and Clement Gerow and Albert Ellis upheld the honor of that team in their work as guards. Ervin Kill and David Rosenbranz starred for the winners, being ably assisted in a series of clever plays by Rodney Pavel and Leman Hiers.

The Lincoln eighth grade north carried off the laurels of victory in the second game, besting the Columbus seventh by a score of 14 to 2. Harld and fast playing from beginning to end brought victory to the winners, while their opponents made a manly attempt to score, but were seemingly out of luck. Milton Scheurle and Lawrence Reiske chalked up the biggest score for the Lincoln eighth, with Carl Thompson, Harold Pudzon and Kenneth Smith playing a good game to support them. On the losing side, Douglas Kaufman and Harvey Hiltz were the stars. Good team work on the part of Orville Muenster, John Fumal and Elmer Reets prevented the "game" from being a complete walkaway for the Lincoln.

Friday afternoon the finals will be played, starting at four o'clock in the Columbus gymnasium. The winners of last night's games will play for first and second place, and the losers for third and fourth. The judges who will award the good sportsmanship banner are on the floor at each game to decide which team is doing the cleanest playing.

Y. M. C. A. BLUES WILL PLAY CRACK BAY TEAM

Y. M. C. A. Blues basketball team, will play the Northern Paper Mills quintet of Green Bay, at that city Friday night. The Green Bay five, placed fourth in the A. A. U. tourney at Chicago, and the Blues will have to go at top speed to keep in the running.

Kenney, Basing, Colvin, Kubitz, and Wheeler, all former high school and college stars, will play with the Blues.

ONE LAWRENCE MAN ON BEYERS' ALL STATE TEAM

William "Bill" Waterpool, star right guard of the Lawrence college basketball team, has been picked as a member of the mythical all-state team by Coach Charles Beyer. Waterpool is the only Lawrence man chosen, the Larsen, Forward, and Lean guards, are given places on the second squad.

Waterpool finished his third year with the Blue and White in the final game of the season against Milton last Saturday. He was captain of the team in 1918-19. Gustin, Ripon, and Christof, Carroll, are the two forwards chosen by Coach Beyer for the honorary quintet. Herbst of Ripon holds down the center berth, and Lunde of Ripon, is Waterpool's running mate at guard.

MARINETTE CAME HERE FRIDAY ENDS SEASON

The curtain will drop on the basketball season in Appleton tomorrow night when Marinette highs come to town. The game will be played at 7:30 o'clock. A curtain raiser between two scout teams for the scout city championship will begin at 6:45. Confident, despite two previous defeats, the highs are prepared to put up the hardest fight of the year against the northerners. With the advantage of a home floor and crowd, Coach Vincent's five is hoping to smash the Marinette jinx to bits.

POSTPONE BUILDING AN ADDITION TO Y. M. C. A.

The board of directors at the monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday afternoon, voted to postpone the building of an addition to the present building.

The uncertainty of labor conditions and present high costs was responsible for the action. An addition which would provide ten additional dormitory rooms and an auxiliary gymnasium had been proposed.

STAGE FIRST EVENTS IN Y. M. C. A. HEXATHLON

Short distance potato race and the standing broad jump, two of the six events in the boys international hexathlon contest, will be staged at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday. The other events will be run off next week.

Practically every member of the boys' division will compete in the events. The records of the ten leaders in each of the five classes will be sent to the national headquarters at New York, and the national champion association determined.

SENIOR GIRLS DEFEAT FRESHMEN CAGE TEAM

The senior girls basketball team of Lawrence college defeated the freshman team by a score of 14 to 6 in the game last night at the Alexander gymnasium. The game between the sophomores and conservatory girls was postponed and will not be held until after spring vacation when the interclass championship will be decided.

BOWLERS ROLL TITLE GAMES THIS EVENING

Combined Locks and App. Wire Works bowling teams will roll a match game for the championship of the inter-factory league at the Y. M. C. A. alleys tonight. The wire workers are the favorites, having won 24 consecutive games in the manufacturing section of the league. The Combined Locks team was the pulp and paper section champion.

PINDLE CHALLENGES THE POOL SHARKS OF CITY

Harold Pindle, Appleton pocket billiard star, and holder of the city championship has issued a challenge to any player in the city. Pindle represents the Arcade owned by A. T. Jensen.

The champion has offered to meet any player in Appleton under a 20 point handicap in a 150 point contest.

LA CROSSE MAY RUN STREET CAR SYSTEM

La Crosse—As a result of a vigorous protest from the unionists against the proposed installation of one-man street cars on lines of the Wisconsin Railway, Light and Power company here, Mayor A. A. Bentley recommended to the common council that the city enter into a contract, under a new state law, to run the street car systems, guaranteeing reasonable profits to the utility, in order to provide adequate service and reduce the fare from 6 to 5 cents. The resolution was referred to a special committee.

LA CROSSE FIGHTS FOR UNION STATION

La Crosse—A massmeeting of all civic, commercial and governmental organizations in La Crosse has been called for March 22 to outline plans for an aggressive fight before the railroad commission, of Wisconsin on March 30 in support of the petition for a union depot in this city. DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ARE PEEVED AT SECRETARY'S SUGGESTIONS FOR REVISION

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington — Recommendations made by Secretary of the Treasury Houston for a revision and simplification of the present tax laws will be opposed by the leading democrats in the house, Rep. Kitchin, North Carolina, minority leader, said today.

Republicans in general approved the suggestions made by Houston and it is probable this will force some action on the revenue question at this session.

Houston has aroused the ire of the democrats, led by Kitchin because of his recommendation for a flat tax on excess profits, in place of the present graduated rates of from 20 to 40 per cent on earnings above 8 per cent.

This violates a principle that has guided the democrats in the framing of war taxation, namely—to increase the percentage of tax as the taxable profits increase, Kitchin declared, adding that the Houston plan will again shift the burden to the poor, while the present system falls heavier proportionately on the rich. Likewise, he claims, is a direct reversal of the policies of President Wilson and former Secretary McAdoo.

Other democrats backing Kitchin declared that the republicans would not dare to tamper with the revenue laws in the face of an approaching election.

Representative Fordney, Michigan, chairman of the ways and means committee, strongly favors a flat tax on excess profits.

Officials of the treasury will appear before the committee today to explain in detail the Houston recommendations.

INJUNCTION PUT STOP TO ACTIVITIES OF UNION

Chicago. — Union activities by drivers and chauffeurs in eight large department stores here were prevented today by an injunction.

The stores sought the injunction to prevent a newly formed union from "interfering with their business." The order restrains employees from picketing, intimidating or soliciting memberships.

At the same time a strike by 600 or more retail clerks was threatened. They demanded a minimum of a 40 hour week and a 25 per cent increase over present salaries.

GASOLINE LADEN U. S. STEAMER IS ON FIRE

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Radio dispatches received by United States naval radio stations here today reported the U. S. Shipping Board steamship Oloekson afire in the roads at Dalboa, Canal zone, with 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline aboard.

The vessel took fire late yesterday afternoon, according to the wireless reports, while at anchor in the roads. A Panama Canal tug managed to beach a little ahead, however, and beached the vessel which continued to burn this morning. The crew was saved.

The Oloekson, 9,500 tons, left Philadelphia March 2 for Vladivostok, via the Panama canal.

ant railway city 120 miles south and west of Berlin.

The Bavarian diet, the dispatch said, has elected Dr. von Kapp, former governor of upper Silesia, as Bavarian premier.

Bloody fighting also was reported from Hagen, Westphalia, where workmen and troops clashed when the soldiers attempted to occupy the city. The troops, according to a dispatch by way of Copenhagen, were disarmed after they had surrendered and were held as prisoners by the workmen. Thirty soldiers were killed and 70 wounded in the fighting that preceded the troops' surrender. Two workmen were killed and several wounded.

Military Leader Quits
Reports of the resignation of von Luetwitz were contained in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin which said the military leader stepped out after futile negotiations with Herr Daumig, leader of the combination of radical parties.

Luetwitz, the dispatch said, was promised that he would be granted military protection by the radicals. The communists, the dispatch added, said they would not tolerate the return of Gustav Noske, defense minister of President Ebert, and that his resignation will be demanded.

Dispatches continued to report extensive radical uprisings in Bavaria, Saxony, the Ruhr industrial district of Westphalia, Chemnitz, Frankfurt and Kiel. Advice to the British foreign office late yesterday said forty Spartacists had been killed in clashes between troops and radicals at Essen.

Workers Demand Power
London.—A Berlin dispatch by way of Copenhagen quotes Deputies Daumig and Cohn, heads of the combination of radical parties, as declaring that the proletarian "will not reorganize the workmen's force for Ebert's profit."

The proletarian demands power for itself, the dispatch quoted the leaders as asserting. Another dispatch said the independent socialists, communists, and Right Parties had held a conference and selected a cabinet naming Daumig as chancellor. Kurt Beyer as minister of the interior, Herr Neumann or Herr Levy, minister of foreign affairs, and Herr Cohn as minister of justice. The cabinet list, it was said, includes only independent socialists and communists.

Kapp Issues Statement.
Berlin.—(Night).—The revolutionary government of Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp and General Baron von Luetwitz, his minister of defense, has ended.

The text of von Kapp's parting communique was as follows:
"The Bauer government, having decided to fulfill our most essential demands, rejection of which caused the establishment of the von Kapp government, Dr. von Kapp regards his mission as fulfilled.

"He retires giving up his power to the military commander in chief, moved by the conviction for the necessity of avoiding the establishment of a civil republic.
Earlier in the day the von Kapp forces had announced that the ultimatum of the independent-socialists demanding withdrawal of the revolutionary government and disarmament of troops had been flatly refused.

Russia Is Feared.
It was evident, however, that the director was greatly worried because of the rising influence of the Spartacists. A report was received that bolshevik groups were in control of Wilhelmshaven.

"All conditions now prevailing in Russia threaten us," one official declared with anxiety.

Shortly after this Ernest Daumig issued a statement calling upon the proletariat to "hold firm" until its dictatorship could be established through an election.

KINSMAN AND TIPPET ARE MADE DIRECTORS

"Dr. D. O. Kinsman of Lawrence college has been chosen county director of the United Simultaneous campaign to be put on as part of the Interchurch World Movement. Dr. Kinsman has supervised the appointment of committee directors in each community in the county where there are co-operating churches. These directors will co-operate with representatives from each of these churches.

"Dr. J. H. Tippet, also of this city, has been appointed district director for the Oshkosh district, comprising the counties of Calumet, Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Outagamie, Sheboygan, Waupaca, and Winnebago.

YOUNG MAN LOSSES ARM IN A CORN SHREDDER

Ewald Tetzlaff, route 6, is at St. Elizabeth hospital here, his left arm amputated just above the wrist, following an accident in which his arm became caught in a corn shredder yesterday afternoon. Tetzlaff is about 21 years old, and had recently been married.

He was resting comfortably this afternoon, according to word from the hospital.

Mrs. August Kneppel left this morning for Monmouth, Ill., to visit her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Green.

BRYAN FEARS FOR DEMOCRAT PARTY IF TREATY LOSES

NEBRASKAN RENEWS DEMAND FOR RATIFICATION OF TREATY—SAYS PEOPLE WANT IT

(By Hugh Baillie)
By United Press Lead Wire

Washington.—Defeat of the peace treaty by the vote of democrats will be "fatal to our party's hopes," William J. Bryan declared today.

His own course in that event is problematical. He refused to say it would be, on the ground that the question was hypothetical.

With the final vote on the treaty in sight, Bryan in an interview with the United Press, renewed his demand for ratification in opposition to President Wilson who is against ratification with the Lodge reservation. Bryan said:

"I should be very happy to hear tonight that the treaty has been ratified. Believing that the democrats desire to give to their country and their party what they desire, and believing that it would be greatly detrimental to the country and fatal to our party's hopes in the campaign for the democrats to join with the irreconcilables in defeating the treaty, I shall assume they will vote for reservations as a unit and thus put practically the entire senate back of ratification.

"I am sure such a good policy would be almost unanimously endorsed by the people of the United States and it would be of great benefit to the struggling democrats of Europe."

As the debate started in the senate, Bryan was in close touch with proceedings there.

LITTLE BUSINESS AT MEETING OF COUNCIL

A number of routine matters were disposed of at the meeting of the Common council held last evening.

Bids for road oil were presented and the Camden Petroleum company awarded the contract for furnishing six cars for delivery this summer.

Applications of W. A. Sager and J. H. Shasky for the position of poor farm keeper were received and referred to the committee on Poor. Relative to the graveling of Meade street, a resolution previously adopted was rescinded, and no work will therefore be done on this thoroughfare.

The matter of widening Lake street between the railway tracks and the government canal was brought up and referred to the Board of Public works. They are to report back to the council at the meeting on the matter. Other matters of minor importance were taken up and disposed of during the session.

Sterling Tires

The Only Real Non-Skid

10 STERLING QUALITIES

1. FOR PRACTICAL PURPOSES OUR GUARANTEE is that the user shall be satisfied. We guarantee Sterling Tires to be free from defects in material and workmanship, and whenever one is found defective we will make good for whatever service it should have delivered. We want and give a square deal.

2. ALL SUPER-SIZE STERLINGS are cured on Air Bags insuring firm and lasting adhesion of all layers.

3. HAND-MADE: Every tire the individual and finished product of one trained mechanic. Hand made tires more often and more carefully inspected. Hand made tires more resilient.

4. GREATER CIRCUMFERENCE: STERLING TIRES are, generally speaking, size for size, larger than tires of other makes.

5. SQUARE DEAL ON ADJUSTMENTS: Our policy is to give a square deal on adjustments at all times. All we ask is reasonable co-operation on the part of the customer.

6. VACUUM-BAR NON-SKID: STERLING Patented form of NON-SKID combines best NON-SKID features of other tires with the VACUUM principle, which has an enormous advantage. Holds side wise, because of the long flat side.

7. THICK, TOUGH YET ELASTIC TREAD: Greatly reduces chances of puncture, fabric bruising and cutting, making riding very easy.

8. PLYS OF FABRIC IN CARCASS: There is usually one more ply of fabric in a STERLING TIRE of a given size, than in the same size of other makes. STERLING TIRES have sufficient layers to guarantee strength and safety, without taking away from resiliency.

9. PURE GUM INNER TUBES: THE STERLING RED TUBE contains just enough mineral pigments to cure it properly and give it the toughness required to yield the best results in actual service.

10. SEAMLESS: A sheet of pure rubber of the required dimensions is laid flat on the tube rolling machine, and wound round itself, forming a seamless tube.

WHY WE SHOULD ORGANIZE.

Practically every city in the state of Wisconsin is organized for its civic and material advancement. There are in the neighborhood of 60 chambers and associations of commerce, commercial clubs, etc., in the state, which employ trained and paid secretaries. The center of all civic and industrial activities in Milwaukee is the powerful Association of Commerce. What the first city of the state finds indispensable to its welfare and progress the other cities, large and small, have found equally essential. Seymour, for instance, maintains a commercial club, so does Sturgeon Bay and many enterprising towns in that class.

Superior, Madison, Green Bay and Janesville, all of which have been making rapid forward strides in recent years, are working through exceptionally efficient and well-sustained organizations of this kind. Oshkosh has a good association. Neenah has just reorganized its club, while Fond du Lac, Racine, Kenosha, Wausau, Rhineland, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Waukesha and Marshfield all have aggressive associations. These organizations employ paid secretaries at salaries ranging from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. In Green Bay the salaries of the secretary, assistant and traffic commissioner aggregate $10,000 a year and the resources of the association total in the neighborhood of $25,000 a year.

In every one of these cities some men can be found who will offer adverse criticism as to the worth and work of commercial organizations. As a general rule they will be found to be the men who never can be relied upon to contribute service, time or money for the advancement of their city. The fact that they constitute only a handful out of the thousands of business and professional men of the state who have united and concentrated their activities for city promotion and up-building is ample proof of the value and desirability of commercial associations.

In each city it will be found that at least 95 per cent of the dependable civic workers are enrolled in bodies of this kind. In most cities we would say that the number approximates 100 per cent. In other words, commercial organizations embrace in general terms all of the men in a city whose force and personality and success have made their business or pursuit what it is and who in the composition make the city what it is. They have without exception found it necessary to the strengthening and betterment of their city to pool their efforts and unite their resources. There can be no question about results. Of course the results are measured in each particular case by the energy which is put into the association and by the competency of its management and its secretary. Cities get out of such organizations only what they put into them, but this relates to methods of operation. It does not go to the value of organization.

Appleton is the only city of importance in the state of Wisconsin and practically the only city, important or unimportant, which does not have a commercial association. What every city in the state finds advantageous for its up-building Appleton has dispensed with. Appleton is the hub of activities in the Fox River valley. All development of the valley reflects itself to Appleton's advancement, and similarly the expansion of Appleton spreads its effects over this large territory. It is our belief that the Fox River valley is the most favored portion of Wisconsin and that it has a greater future before it than any other portion of the state. No city should have a larger place in this future than Appleton; in fact it should dominate. Every factor in this future as well as in Appleton's immediate position is a compelling reason why it should proceed to organize itself for concentration of effort and the better handling of its civic and other problems.

THE GERMAN REPUBLIC HOLDS.

Indications are that the counter revolution in Germany has collapsed. Events during the last few days seem to have demonstrated that the people are not reactionary in their political tendencies. The Kapp dictatorship enlisted no general popular support. It seems to have been merely an ill-timed and ill-advised attempt to restore at least the foundations of an oligarchy of some kind. Moreover, the rejection of this junker movement comes none too soon to avert complications in the opposite direction. Radicalism is already industriously engaged in trying to set up the soviet system in districts most susceptible to its influence, and communication is being sought with the Russian bolsheviks in the hope of reaching a working agreement and of obtaining assistance in that quarter.

The counter revolution may be regarded as an inevitable consequence of the war and the formation of the republic which the armistice compelled. No government could function in Germany under the stress of national prostration and the heavy economic burdens inflicted by the peace terms to the satisfaction of all. Whatever progress it might make for stabilizing economic and political conditions, it could not fail to arouse deep antagonism and discontent. It is more natural that this opposition should manifest itself from reactionary rather than from radical sources.

What the allied nations, including the United States, are chiefly interested in is the maintenance of representative government in Germany. The preservation of democratic institutions there is associated with political responsibility and fulfillment of the terms of peace in good faith. It is true the allied nations are in a position to enforce the treaty, but it is easily conceivable that a situation might arise which would compel them to do so at heavy cost and inconvenience, possibly necessitating an extensive occupation of Germany. The dangers of such a contingency seem to have passed with the collapse of the counter revolution. In all probability a reconstruction of the government will now follow that will give full force and effect to both popular and parliamentary powers under the constitution.

GEN. WOOD'S CANDIDACY.

The candidacy of Gen. Leonard Wood for president has taken on a new significance as a result of the Minnesota primary. With Johnson, Lowden, and Hoover in the contest, Gen. Wood was the only real factor. All of the other candidates were so heavily outdistanced that they can hardly be said to have made a showing. An exception may be made in the case of Hoover, whose name went on the ballot only by the use of stickers. In the counties where they were distributed extensively, Hoover polled a large vote, so that the primary cannot be said to have been a real test of strength between Hoover and Wood. Minnesota was the birthplace of Lowden and it holds a large Scandinavian population which might be expected to gravitate toward Mr. Johnson. Minnesota was conspicuous in pre-war days for its pacifist leanings and it is an agricultural state where military issues and military men would not be expected to attract attention.

Against this reasoning Gen. Wood, who is an aggressive advocate of military preparedness and of universal military training sweeps the state for endorsement as the Republican nominee for president. It is an illogical situation to the many thousands of sober thinking men who believe a military leader is not likely to prove a successful president, and to other thousands of men upon whom the burden of the country's prosperity and progress rest who believe we should have as our next president a man with sound business experience and judgment. The question naturally arises, whether the captivating element in Wood's candidacy is his military personality or the ideas of national policy his views embody. We are inclined to think it is the former. However, there can no longer be any doubt that Wood is a formidable factor and that the Republican leaders and the public at large may well ponder over the causes of his strength.

Since the Columbia River salmon cannery industry was started by pioneer fishermen in 1876, a total of $130,000,000 worth of salmon has been taken from the 30,000 acres of fishing territory in the river from Cascade locks to its mouth.

Seventy-five years ago it was not unusual for a formal English breakfast to last two hours, while a dinner might start at 3:30 o'clock and be protracted till midnight. And the courses were as many and substantial as the meals were lengthy.

According to current reports, the Canadian government railways, including the recently acquired Grand Trunk, will be operated at an estimated loss of $20,000,000 during the coming year.

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright, 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

A Wife Can Keep Her Husband's Opinion of Women High and Fine

"Good men revere their mothers as a matter of course, but Mother Lorimer deserves the devotion of her boys more than any mother I know," thought I as I watched the little group of which the mother was the center. "Lately it has been the fashion to sneer at good mothers and it certainly has been a good fashion, but I sometimes think we are in a fair way to forget how important and wonderful a wife may be. I do not mean as a baker of biscuits—though that is very important."

A wife fixes a man's standards of womanhood, it seemed to me. If she is brave and unselfish, a husband will decide that all women are self-sacrificing and courageous. If she is fickle and hysterical and lazy, so a man will imagine the rest of her sex to be.

Perhaps in no other way is a wife so powerful for good as in her ability to keep her husband's opinion of all women high and fine. A wife is just as powerful for evil if she permits a man to believe that women, at their best, are inferior to men.

"The average woman," says Havelock Ellis, "is about as competent as the average man." This has been proved by the records made in war work, it is said.

Isn't it the average wife's duty to convince a husband of this fact? Not by words, but by deeds. I, for one, have decided to have done with adventure and excitement. I am going to settle down, and "stay put" in my own home. I am going to try to make it a real home for Bob. Long ago I concluded that my Bob is a 100 per cent husband and that I would better try to keep him so.

Never did a brand new bride look forward to housekeeping with better intentions, than I upon our return from Mexico.

Bob was facing a huge task, in case no trace was ever found of our dear Daddy. He would have to be saved all annoyances about his home. I resolved to make it my joy as well as my duty to see that no petty home affairs were permitted to irritate him.

Now that we were to begin housekeeping again, I resolved upon a new role. I had started out the first time with the idea that I could be Bob's pal and chum. The scheme hadn't worked very well. Bob treated me less tenderly than I desired. I missed the repeated caress that my heart craved. I was too much my husband's equal in authority. Being capable in my vocation as a homemaker did not necessarily make me dislike to be kissed.

As I meditated thus in my room in the great Lorimer mansion on the day Bob and Jim were to depart for South America, I felt a ripple or noise and a thrill of excitement spreading over the inmates. I rushed to Mother's sitting-room, knowing that the excitement would be concentrated there.

From a small port in South America, "shouted Bob. "He's alive! The telegram is in Spanish, so it must be a small town." Then Bob translated the story:

"The 'Tone,' had been overturned in the high seas, but she did not sink. After floating two days, Daddy and Archer and all the men but the superstitious valet had been taken from the wreck by a nondescript freighter. Bob stopped as if the difficulties of translation bothered him. "By the way," he exclaimed, "the boat was owned by Hamilton Certeis and he was aboard her. Also Don Manuel! Can you beat it!"

The wife ended with the statement that Daddy couldn't tell when or how he could get home. He had tried to buy the boat, but Certeis would not sell. Daddy promised to explain by letter. In the midst of the tremendous rejoicing over this news, Bob came to me and whispered, "Get it, Jane? Certeis and Don Manuel are keeping out of sight. That's why we had no report from that ship. And that's why Dad can't get home!"

"Looks as if our Daddy might be," I said with a gay laugh. Bob joined me heartily. It was good to be able to laugh together again.

FRENCH AND BRITISH CLAIM HONOR

Washington.—When Great Britain in the early days of the war began the manufacture of that valuable instrument of war, the "Tank," it was allowed to leak out from the British war office that the plants where the machines were being made were manufacturing large numbers of oil tanks for Russia. This rumor to the German spies gave the allied tanks their non-German name, the War Department has announced in a brief history of the tank.

Early in 1915, the use of great numbers of machine guns made attacks impossible without great losses in men. An answer had to be found, and the allied armies began working on the problem. A solution was offered in the tank, and by a coincidence the French and British, each working separately and secretly, hit on the same idea at the same time.

The French and British ideas differed, however. The latter's plan was the more practicable, and was the one finally adopted. The British decided to produce a machine which in effect would be a moving fort. The duties of the men in the tank would only be to use the tank and its guns against the enemy—cross shell-top ground between two positions, the enemy's barbed wire, force the enemy to keep down in his trenches while the allied infantry advanced and took them, and crush their machine gun nests.

The French planned to construct a machine which would not carry so much armament, but in which would be placed an infantry platoon, which, after the successful crossing of the enemy's barbed wire, would debouch from the tank and attack the enemy infantry hand-to-hand. The first tanks of the French, therefore, had a small caterpillar tread underneath to allow plenty of room for carrying infantry. Because of this small tread they were found to be unable to cross very difficult ground and had to be abandoned.

CHILD CRIME ON INCREASE

Vienna.—One hundred thousands school children in Vienna are underfed and diseased as a result of food shortage, lack of fuel, and inadequate hospital facilities, according to a survey recently made there by the American Red Cross.

Crime among the child population is on the increase, hunger sometimes driving little boys to ghastly attempts at murder. The juvenile court is being overwhelmed with the daily addition of fresh cases of child criminality.

Nine cars of milk have been set aside for the feeding of hungry children and the distribution has already begun.

Business activity in Vienna has almost ceased. During the shopping hours the great Ring streets near the Opera are deserted, as compared with their appearance during the war or even during the early months after the armistice. Advertising in the newspapers by business houses has dwindled down to insignificant proportions. To take one instance, Vienna's advertising paper recently carried only 27 advertisements, 17 of which were offers to buy jewelry, seven of skin disease specialists, one offer to buy old bottles, and two offering face powders for sale.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 21, 1895.

F. W. Harriman went to Shawano on legal business.

S. H. Wood, who had the cords and arteries in his right arm severed by a fall on a show case, was able to be out and expected eventually to have the use of his arm.

The planking of the new fourth lock was completed, the upper gates were in place and the lower ones were being put in position.

The ice on the river between Appleton and Menasha had been cut away in the center of the stream, but there were wide borders of firm ice on the sides near the banks, and every day these expanses were covered with fishermen.

Mrs. Edward Finnegan received a shipment of shamrock, rooted in earth, from her cousin, Joseph Johnson, a wholesale grocer of Dundalk, County Lough, Ireland.

Much interest in the proposed canal of Port Howard and Green Bay was being taken by all the cities of the Fox river valley.

Suppose for the moment that President Wilson and ex-Secretary Lansing were a couple of roughnecks—tough eggs, and the misunderstanding which caused the split between them had made itself apparent. Can you imagine the dialogue that would have taken place. Let's suppose:

"I am I hope to the right degree that you have been pullin' a lot of meetin's while I'm away."

"What ya mean pullin' a lot of meetin's?"

"I mean have you been tryin' to get away with any of this close harmony stuff since I been on the bum?"

"I ain't been tryin' to get away with nothin', but I called a couple of them guys a few times and we talked over some stuff pro and con."

"Well, how do you git that way? Who do you suppose is the main squeeze around this joint anyhow?"

"Where do you get off at? You couldn't a done nothin' without me. What's the big idea, the big I-don't-nothin'?"

"I ain't sayin' I could a done somethin'." All I know is you was on the blink and I figured that a little head to head stuff wouldn't get nobody's goat."

"Well, you're all wrong, kid, all wrong. You're gettin' my nanny for quite some spell and believe me I'm all fed up on it."

"All right, if that's the way you feel about it you can get another boy."

"Well, that's the way I felt about it all right, all right."

"Well, y'know I ain't married to this job or sumpin'; I ain't even stuck on it, but I am all the time looking for ideas. That's me."

"Yeah? Is that so. Well, listen: I ain't stuck on having you stuck on it. And instead of looking for ideas, you can look for a job. That's me."

"Aw, dry up, you can't fire me. I'm quit!"

"Why y' poor simp; get to h— out o' here."

"Aw, pipe down: Ya gimme a pain."

"Shut y'self."

"Aw!"

The Ten Great Movements.

In the Metabolism Symphony, by Brady, there are ten great movements and a couple of mere stillo. The earlier movements are all allegro and taken on the hoof, but as the theme unfolds and the bass of your heart clumping against your fourth rib joins with the reedy wheeze of your breath coming sharp and fast you naturally decide to lie down for the four movements of the grand finale.

There are twenty full beats for each of the first movements, and ten for each of the horizontal, making just 200 beats to the whole piece, and believe me, children, long before the first gross of movements are finished the neighbors begin to wonder whether your bedroom or the hired girl has got the asthma again.

Far be it from me to imply that the majority of business and professional people, including housekeepers in both categories, are downright lazy, but such is the sad truth. They are so plumb lazy that they don't absorb enough oxygen to keep life weaving on, and being half dead, as you might say, they are constrained to let the Wischmeier family tell it is all due to nerve exhaustion for which delectably imaginable state his stuff is the proper "tonic." Well, every invalid or near-invalid to his taste. This is a free country and no one is prohibited from making a simp of himself. In fact every one is invited to do so.

The Metabolism Symphony grows more pleasing with long familiarity. I've been playing it over on my corn only now for several years, gradually adding a movement or rewriting passages, until now I feel that it is the right music for that tired feeling. It takes me something less than fifteen minutes to play the entire piece through, and then I still have time for a few fancy rolls forward and backward, just to keep everything

Through the interest of a lover of this kind of music we have just published ten thousand copies of this Metabolism Symphony, and every reader who wants a copy to try over on his old protoplasm will receive it with the compliments of this newspaper, if he will file his request, together with a stamped envelope addressed to himself (but not addressed "City"), with the blushing author, in care of this newspaper. Note (in G Sharp): Not a too for the reader who sends loose stamps or a blank envelope or an unsigned request. By order of Dr. Brady.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Chocolate or Cocoa.

Does chocolate or cocoa dry up a person's blood? Also does the craving for it, by an expectant mother, have any harmful effect on the child?

ANSWER—No. Chocolate and cocoa makes a wholesome, somewhat nourishing, mildly stimulating, but usually harmless beverage for any adult. Tea or coffee is slightly more stimulating, not nourishing in itself, and good for the health of most adults.

Children Show Good Judgment.

Can you suggest anything which will even partly serve the purpose of castor oil, something just as effective but not so disagreeable as castor oil? My children simply cannot take castor oil. (Rev. K. B. II.)

ANSWER—Your children probably inherit their good sense from their mother. There is no reason why any child should take castor oil, something but only superstition. Aromatic syrup of rhubarb (U. S. Pharmacopoeia), formerly called spiced syrup of rhubarb, will serve every purpose of castor oil if given in the same doses.

A Fig for That.

I have been eating figs daily for constipation, with satisfactory results. But some say the seeds are injurious to the intestines. (P. A. P.)

ANSWER—Keep a neatening the figs with their seeds. Seeds in fruits never do harm (to persons over six years of age) and often do much good.

Waiting Out the Flu.

Can you tell me some strong disinfectant I can keep in my room to ward off the flu and other diseases? I suppose carbolic acid is too dangerous to have around. (Mrs. W. H.)

ANSWER—There is no such disinfectant. It is a sad superstition, but only superstition, to the air anywhere with any such purpose. Fresh air and sunlight will give the best protection.

MOVE FOR DISMISSAL OF NIGHT RIDER CASE

been shown. He stated that he had then told the delegation to go to Municipal Judge Spencer and that he would go with them. He stated that previous to going to Judge Spencer's rooms, Ballard had said "this is a hell of a country. You cannot get justice." He stated that Judge Spencer had concurred with him in his decision that no intent to do great bodily injury had been shown, and that the Judge had offered a warrant for assault and battery with the suggestion that the court had the power to make the charge a more serious one if the facts warranted it when it came to trial. He stated that Ballard said they did not want an assault and battery warrant, that it wouldn't suit him as the men would just be fined $5.00 or $25.00 and costs.

Later he stated Ballard returned and with Tittmore asked for a warrant charging unlawful assembly but that he could not find that they were entitled to such a warrant under the statutes. He said that Ballard then began to rave and swear and that he thereupon gave the statute referred to by Mr. Tittmore who read it and then said "Mr. Catlin is right, there is no use abusing him."

He stated that "maybe" he intends to start a case in the near future. Mrs. Black when called out substantially the same story.

Attorney Cochems for the plaintiff then took the stand and was questioned by Attorney Kolinski, his law partner. A fine verbal tilt developed between the witness and Attorney Martin during the examination which really furnished the nearest approach to "fireworks" brought out in the session.

Cochems told how he had been informed of the case by Mr. Ballard and that he sent his law partner, Attorney Wolf, to Appleton to investigate and lay the preliminary grounds for a suit. He stated that he planned to bring actions for all of the parties who had made affidavit of their alleged "sufferings" at the hands of the nocturnal visitors.

Following this he said that he brought action under the discovery statute to obtain the names of the other parties implicated in the case but that he had not been able to get evidence. Mr. Cochems in making the last statement said in "these cases," Attorney Martin thereupon charged him with attempting to obtain information under the discovery act which he had no right to obtain, in that it was meant to cover several cases and not just the one for which the action was brought. Judge Reid then objected to the methods employed by both attorneys and the argument was cut short.

Attorney Cochems stated that there was no agreement either verbal or oral as to what he was to obtain for conducting the case for Deml but that the Society of Equity was to pay him the amount he required.

Jurors trying the case are:

Louis Nichols, Harry Vanderlinen, J. S. Vorbeten, John Hecker, James Smith, George Johlin, Clark Wilcox, William Snoehr, Walter Bement.

The Truth About Eczema and Piles

"Thousands and thousands of people, says Peterson of Buffalo, are learning every week that one 55 cent box of Peterson's Ointment will abolish eczema and banish piles, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money."

"I had eczema for many years on my head and could not get anything to stop the agonies. I saw your ad and got one box and I owe you many thanks for the good it has done me. There isn't a blotch on my head and I couldn't help but thank Peterson, for the cure is great." Miss Mary Hill, 29 Third Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I have had itching piles for 15 years and Peterson's is the only ointment that relieves me, besides the piles seem to have gone." A. B. Reger, 1125 Washington Avenue, Racine, Wis.

"Use Peterson's Ointment for old sores, suit rheum, chafing and all skin diseases. Druggists recommend it. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y."

James O'Leary, Ashley Armstrong and John Klein.

Wednesday Testimony

Ballard was the first witness sworn. In reply to questions put to him by Attorney Martin he said he lived in the town of Grand Chute and had been a resident thereof for nearly sixty years. A question as to how long he had been in politics was objected to by Attorney Cochems and was sustained by the court. Concerning the number of years he was an office holder he said he had been chairman of his town for 25 years.

Further questions by the attorney brought out the information that he had known Deml all his life, but was not related to him; that he lived only a mile and a half from him; that he was not his guardian; that he sat beside him in court because he had a right there as well as any other place.

Q. You are interested in this case?

Attorney Martin inquired.

A. I am.

Q. What is your interest? A. Do you want me to explain the three reasons? First, he is a neighbor of mine, and a good neighbor; secondly, that he belongs to a society called the American Society of Equity, and I belong to the same organization; and in fact, I organized this county. One of the fundamental principles of our organization is justice, and when one of our members gets into difficulty or trouble we feel it is our duty and right to help him and protect him.

Another reason is that I am an officer in the town of Grand Chute, and the statement this man made to me and the appearance he made when he made the statement led me to believe that he had been badly misused, and I felt as an officer of the town it would be my duty to try to uphold the law and the rights of this man.

Mr. Ballard said he was not a candidate for office, but upon further questioning admitted that he might be for delegate. It was brought out that he had written a number of letters to the different officers and local of the American Society of Equity seeking funds with which to defray the expense of the present trial, but he was not sure he could produce any of the letters. He also admitted that he had brought the matter up at public meetings of the Equity.

Q. To how many different locals did you talk about this matter of getting funds to maintain this case of Deml's? A. Three or four.

Q. Didn't you talk to six? A. I could not say.

Q. How many locals in Outagamie county? A. Twenty-one.

Q. Did you talk to all these locals about this matter? A. No.

Q. Did you talk to half of them? A. I don't think I did.

Q. Did you talk in the legislature about it? A. I had a resolution in the legislature.

Q. Did you call it our case? A. I don't remember the resolution.

Q. Did you call it our case? A. Case in Outagamie county.

Q. Did you talk to the Federation of Labor about it? A. Yes, I did.

Q. How lately? A. A night or two ago when I was asked to speak.

Q. Were you asked to speak about the Deml case? A. No.

Q. You volunteered that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are greatly interested in it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You contributed how much money? A. I don't remember.

Q. Did you give more to the Deml case than to the Red Cross? A. No.

Mr. Cochems: I think there is a limit to this.

Mr. Martin: How much did you contribute to the maintenance of this Deml case? A. I don't know the exact amount.

Q. Give us your best judgment? A. Perhaps fifty dollars.

Q. Are you so affluent you don't know whether it is $50 or $100? A. No Answer.

Q. What do you say? A. I gave $50.

Q. How did you give it? A. I wrote a check.

Q. To whom did you give the check? A. I gave the check to the attorney.

Q. Mr. Cochems? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, besides talking in the legislature, and talking at the Equity society meetings and talking to the American Federation of Labor did you talk with Mr. Stewart, representing some magazine? A. No.

Wrote for Papers.

The witness was shown a communication signed by C. B. Ballard and published in the Appleton Daily Crescent on Friday, Nov. 1, 1918, and admitted having written the article.

Q. You caused it to be published? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you also pay for having it published? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you contribute to the Capital Times matter concerning this suit? A. No.

Q. Had no communication there? A. The letter was in the Capital Times.

Q. Did you send it for publication? A. I did, or they took it from the paper.

Q. I want you to say whether or not you sent it to the Capital Times? A. I did send it.

Q. Now, Mr. Ballard, did you go around soliciting subscriptions for the purpose of carrying on this litigation? A. No.

Q. Be careful? A. I just wrote these letters to the different locals.

Q. Did you communicate with certain individuals and ask them to give money? A. I might have, yes, sir.

Q. You sought a subscription of Mrs. Black of Kaukauna? A. Yes.

Q. Who else did you ask for subscriptions? A. I cannot remember now just who.

Q. Did you ask your friend Tittmore for a subscription? A. I asked Tittmore if the state would not do something to help along.

Q. Did you ask Tittmore to subscribe? A. I asked him to see if the state board could do something.

Q. At this meeting of the Federation of Labor did you ask some of these laboring men to contribute something? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you suggest that you would like to have them? A. No.

Q. At the meetings of the American Society of Equity you suggested the propriety of the locals subscribing, did you? A. Yes.

Q. You know how much was subscribed by the locals for the purpose of maintaining this action? A. I don't know.

Q. Approximately? A. Well, all I know is what the county treasurer of the American Society of Equity reported.

Q. How much did he report? A. Something like $400.

Didn't Handle Money.

Q. How much did you turn over to Mr. Cochems? A. I didn't turn over any money at all; it went to the county treasurer.

Q. Was it your understanding that he was to turn it over to Mr. Cochems? A. None of the money went through my hands.

Q. Now, Mr. Ballard, when did you first begin to discuss the action and the raising of funds? A. Well, it was nearly two years ago; a year and a half ago, I cannot remember the time.

Q. Did you do it in the fall of 1918? A. Sometime during the winter.

Q. When did you first talk to Deml about bringing this action? A. The next day we talked about it.

The Court: The next day after October 19? A. Yes, sir.

Second day of testimony turn rule.

Q. What did you say to him about bringing this action? A. I said we had better go and see the governor about the case.

Q. I am not concerned about the governor; I want to know what you said about bringing this action. A. I thought some kind of an action ought to be brought.

Advised Bringing Suit.

Q. I don't care for that. A. I said: "John, there ought to be some kind of an action started, an action of this kind."

Q. What more did you say about it? A. I said we had better go and see the governor about it.

Q. What more did you say about the action to John Deml? A. In a general way I told him a case of this kind ought to be taken up and prosecuted.

Q. You didn't wait to find out about the other side? A. I had heard about these fellows before.

Q. In your capacity as public guardian you opposed it? A. No answer.

Q. How long did you and Deml talk about this case? A. We went down together to see the governor.

Q. Where did you meet Deml? A. Met him in the road.

Q. Did you stop him? A. He was going to town and asked me to ride.

Q. And so you got in and had a ride up town with him? A. Yet, sir.

Q. You talked about this affair? A. I talked to him about it.

Q. Where did you go when you came to town? A. We went over to see Judge Heinemann.

Q. Judge Heinemann, who is he? A. Capt. Heinemann.

Q. District attorney? A. No.

Q. Did you take Deml with you? A. We drove around there, yes, sir.

Q. How long did you stay at Heinemann's? A. Perhaps half an hour.

Q. Did you ask Deml to tell Heinemann what occurred? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you go then? A. We went home.

Q. Are you quite sure you went home? A. We went out and got into the car and drove out the other side of town.

Q. Where? A. In the town of Greenville.

Q. Where? A. We went to see Scheffler.

Q. What did you go to see him for? A. We knew he had been handled.

Took Deml to Madison.

Q. Now, when did you go down to see the governor? A. I think we went down to see him either the next day or the day after; I think it was Tuesday.

Q. Who suggested going to see the governor? A. Mr. Heinemann.

Q. That came from you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you advise Deml to go and see the governor? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you pay Deml's fare? A. No, sir; there were nine of us went down, eight or nine.

Q. Did you call anyone at Heinemann's home? A. His son.

Q. This was on Sunday. A. Yes, sir.

Q. I suppose you went to see Dr. O'Connor to see what he had to say about it? A. I don't know Dr. O'Connor.

Q. Did you go to see Dr. Rector before going to see the Governor?

Q. How much did you turn over to Mr. Cochems? A. I didn't turn over any money at all; it went to the county treasurer.

Q. Was it your understanding that he was to turn it over to Mr. Cochems? A. None of the money went through my hands.

Q. Now, Mr. Ballard, when did you first begin to discuss the action and the raising of funds? A. Well, it was nearly two years ago; a year and a half ago, I cannot remember the time.

Q. Did you do it in the fall of 1918? A. Sometime during the winter.

Q. When did you first talk to Deml about bringing this action? A. The next day we talked about it.

The Court: The next day after October 19? A. Yes, sir.

Second day of testimony turn rule.

Q. What did you say to him about bringing this action? A. I said we had better go and see the governor about the case.

Q. I am not concerned about the governor; I want to know what you said about bringing this action. A. I thought some kind of an action ought to be brought.

Advised Bringing Suit.

Q. I don't care for that. A. I said: "John, there ought to be some kind of an action started, an action of this kind."

Q. What more did you say about it? A. I said we had better go and see the governor about it.

Q. What more did you say about the action to John Deml? A. In a general way I told him a case of this kind ought to be taken up and prosecuted.

Q. You didn't wait to find out about the other side? A. I had heard about these fellows before.

Q. In your capacity as public guardian you opposed it? A. No answer.

Q. How long did you and Deml talk about this case? A. We went down together to see the governor.

Q. Where did you meet Deml? A. Met him in the road.

Q. Did you stop him? A. He was going to town and asked me to ride.

Q. And so you got in and had a ride up town with him? A. Yet, sir.

Q. You talked about this affair? A. I talked to him about it.

Q. Where did you go when you came to town? A. We went over to see Judge Heinemann.

Q. Judge Heinemann, who is he? A. Capt. Heinemann.

Q. District attorney? A. No.

Q. Did you take Deml with you? A. We drove around there, yes, sir.

Q. How long did you stay at Heinemann's? A. Perhaps half an hour.

Q. Did you ask Deml to tell Heinemann what occurred? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you go then? A. We went home.

Q. Are you quite sure you went home? A. We went out and got into the car and drove out the other side of town.

Q. Where? A. In the town of Greenville.

Q. Where? A. We went to see Scheffler.

Q. What did you go to see him for? A. We knew he had been handled.

Took Deml to Madison.

Q. Now, when did you go down to see the governor? A. I think we went down to see him either the next day or the day after; I think it was Tuesday.

Q. Who suggested going to see the governor? A. Mr. Heinemann.

Q. That came from you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you advise Deml to go and see the governor? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you pay Deml's fare? A. No, sir; there were nine of us went down, eight or nine.

Q. Did you call anyone at Heinemann's home? A. His son.

Q. This was on Sunday. A. Yes, sir.

Q. I suppose you went to see Dr. O'Connor to see what he had to say about it? A. I don't know Dr. O'Connor.

Q. Did you go to see Dr. Rector before going to see the Governor?

NEW HIGH RECORDS ON CHICAGO MARKET

JULY AND SEPTEMBER CORN AND ALL OATS FUTURES SURPASS ALL WAR RECORDS

By United Press Licensed Wire
Chicago—July and September corn and all oats futures reached new high figures for the present crop of the Chicago board of trade today. Cash grain also reached new highs some selling at 21 above the war record.

The market was affected by light receipts, threatened unfavorable weather and influences which have caused the steady upward movement during the week. Reports that Julius Barnes had recommended removal of duty on Canadian oats strengthened both corn and oats futures.

Provisions were higher on a higher grain market. March corn opened late at $1.60 up 1/2 and gained 2 later. May corn after opening 1/2 up at $1.55 advanced to $1.58 1/2. July corn up 1/2 opened at $1.50 1/2 later gaining 1. Sept. corn, 1 1/2 up at the opening, up 1/2 later sold 1/2 higher.

May oats opened at 88 1/2 an advance of 1/2 and gained an additional 1/2. July opened 1/2 higher at 89 1/2 and had a rise of 1/2.

ROAD TO MENASHA OPENED TO TRAFFIC

GREEN BAY-FOND DU LAC TRUCK ROUTE WILL BE IN OPERATION BY APRIL 1

Neenah people who have been working to clear the Appleton-Menasha road of ice and snow have finally opened the highway to motor traffic. Ten cars and snow plows were used in clearing a path through the slush.

Information has been received from Green Bay to the effect that the Northern Transportation Company of that city will open motor truck traffic on a regular schedule between Green Bay and Fond du Lac about April 1.

The company is fully equipped with powerful trucks and trailers. An innovation introduced by the Green Bay concern in truck traffic is the installation of several specially designed vehicles for carrying perishable freight such as meat and fruits.

Following the installation of the Green Bay-Fond du Lac route the company will open a line to Manitowish and as well as other points throughout the northeastern part of the state. A regular schedule for both freight and passenger traffic will be maintained on most of the routes, according to information given out by officials of the transportation concern.

The crushing of copra, dried kernels of coconuts, became an American industry during the war when European countries were unable to get the raw materials.

MOOSE PREPARE TO DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP

BIG CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN APRIL 1—JOINT INSTALLATION AT FOND DU LAC SUNDAY

Efforts to double the membership of the Appleton lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose will be made through a membership campaign opening April 1 and continuing three months. The work here will be conducted in conjunction with a membership campaign throughout Wisconsin.

Plans for the campaign were formulated at a meeting of the local lodge at Castle Hall Tuesday evening. A team of ten men has been assigned to each ward in the city, with the following captains: First ward, M. J. O'Connor; Second ward, W. H. Eschner; Third ward, William Schuldes; Fourth ward, Jacob Kroemer; Fifth ward, Earl W. Bates; Sixth ward, Grover Smith. Members of the teams will be chosen by the captains.

The first report on the progress of the campaign will be made at a big booster meeting at the Y. M. C. A. April 15. Several local and outside speakers will address the meeting.

About fifteen members of the local order will attend the joint installation of the officers of this district at a meeting at Fond du Lac Sunday. Appleton officers will be unable to attend, and installation ceremonies will be conducted here later.

At the meeting last night, F. J. Foreman was elected prelate to succeed Henry E. Krause, resigned.

There are more than 2,000 potato flour factories in Germany.

MANITOWOC REACHES HALF CENTURY MARK

Manitowoc, Wis.—Manitowoc is 50 years old, but the celebration planned has been postponed until later in the spring, when a homecoming will be held. The city was founded in 1870 by A. D. Jones. Peter Johnston, father of Mrs. R. H. Markham, was the first mayor. Although Manitowoc is officially only a half century old, its history dates back nearly a hundred years. The first grant of land for settlement was recorded in 1835. John Schroeder, the present executive, has appointed committees to plan for the homecoming.

REPORT ON RESULTS ON FORWARD CAMPAIGN

A report of the "Forward Step" campaign workers will be made at the mid-week meeting at the Methodist church tomorrow evening. Dr. J. B. Wood expects all workers to complete their calls by noon Thursday and make a report to their captain before the meeting Thursday night.

LOOK FOR BATTLE IN MINNESOTA MEETING

ENDORSEMENT OF PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE MAY RESULT IN VERY BITTER FIGHT

By United Press Lensed Wire
St. Paul—Republican leaders here today predicted a bitter fight in the republican state convention Saturday over endorsement of a presidential candidate. Some expressed a belief that most Minnesota delegates may go to the national convention uninstructed.

Reports from county conventions all over the state today showed at least 688 of the 1,001 delegates to the state convention will come uninstructed. Fifty of the 51 counties are sending delegates with no instructions. Major General Leonard Wood will have a delegation of at least 233 delegates in the convention instructed to vote for him, returns showed. Fifty delegates have been instructed to vote for Frank O. Lowden and 17 for United States Senator Johnson.

indicated many delegations with a majority favoring Frank O. Lowden were sent uninstructed. For instance, in Yellow Medicine county Lowden delegates outnumbered Wood delegates two to one, but the delegation was sent uninstructed.

The St. Paul and Minneapolis county conventions held Wednesday were also district conventions and were able to name delegates to the national convention. Minneapolis sent her two delegates uninstructed while St. Paul instructed her pair to vote for Wood, "so long as he has a chance."

Chronic Sufferers

I want to talk to you. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit does not discourage me in the least; I am helping men and women every day effecting cures, many times in cases pronounced incurable by others, so that I feel sure I can do as much for you. My counsel will cost you nothing but my charges for treatment will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred.

Dr. Turbin,

MOVE FOR DISMISSAL OF NIGHT RIDER CASE

A. No.
Q. Did you go to see Balliet before going to see the governor? A. No.
Q. I suppose the governor told you to bring this suit. A. He didn't tell me to bring this suit, but he told John Deml.
Q. He told John Deml to bring this suit? A. He said it was the next thing to murder.
Q. Did he say what should be done? A. He did.
Q. What? A. He said there ought to be either an action for damages or a criminal action started.
Q. He told you to go back and see the district attorney? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you tell him you had been to the district attorney? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You said to John on the way back, "We will see that the American Society of Equity raises money to prosecute this action, didn't you?" A. Deml said that in the governor's room.
Q. What did Deml say when Tittemore said the society would raise money to prosecute this action? A. I don't remember what he said.
Q. You knew that a criminal prosecution would cost him nothing.

didn't you, that it would be carried on at the expense of the state?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. You know that civil actions of this kind must be paid by someone? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Saw District Attorney
Q. You came home to Appleton with Deml? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you take Deml up to the district attorney's office? A. Tittemore and he went up there.
Q. Is it not true that you didn't take John Deml to the district attorney's office when you went there first about this matter? A. I don't remember.
Q. Well, now, let me remind you a little what occurred that day. Didn't Mark Catlin insist upon seeing Deml before he would do anything? A. I think Deml went there and asked for a warrant. It strikes me that Deml was there.
Q. You didn't get a warrant, did you? A. No.
Q. Did you go and see Judge Spencer on the same day? A. I don't remember. I think it was the same day Mr. Tittemore was with us.
Q. Did you take Deml to Judge Spencer? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You wanted a warrant for assault with intent to do great bodily harm but failed to get it? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Who went to Milwaukee to engage attorneys for this case?
A. I went.
Q. Equity Discussed Case
Q. Who suggested that you go to Milwaukee to employ attorneys?

A. The members.
Q. What members? A. The locals.
Q. What locals? A. Apple Creek local, Deml is a member of it.
Q. Give us the names of any member that suggested you go to Milwaukee to employ attorneys in this case? A. We discussed the matter there at a meeting.
Q. Official meeting? A. One of the local meetings.
Q. Who was secretary of that meeting that night? A. Mr. John Herrity was our secretary; I don't know whether he was there or not.
Q. Did you have a secretary at this meeting? A. I suppose we did.
Q. Did you see him keep minutes of this meeting? A. Whether this was taken up in an official way at the meeting or not or generally talked I cannot recall, but it was the general talk among the members.
Q. Was a resolution offered that you were to go to Milwaukee authorized to employ attorneys? A. No, I don't think so.
Q. On that trip did you see any members of the firm of Coehms, Wolfe and Kolluski? A. I saw Mr. Coehms.
Q. After coming back from seeing the governor, and after seeing the district attorney, and seeing Judge Spencer, you had some further talk about this action, didn't you? A. Why, I presume we talked the matter over.
Q. I don't care for your presumption, I would like to know your answer?
The Court: That is before going to Milwaukee?
Mr. Martin: Yes.
The Court: You may answer.
The witness: Yes, sir.
Recess for fifteen minutes.
Q. How much further talk did you have with Deml about this action? A. After coming back from seeing the governor we had talks about it at different times.
Q. Do you know this action was not started until April 19? A. Well, it started but I cannot tell exactly when.
Q. You talked with counsel since you left the stand? A. I had a conversation.
Engage Attorneys
Q. You now say that Deml wanted to go ahead with it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Talk about this Deml case? A. The report of the county treasurer was read.
Q. Did you talk about this Deml case? A. Right there?
Q. Did you try to make a good fellow out of yourself about what you had done? A. I wanted them to know what had been done with it.
Q. You told them it had been paid over to the attorneys, did you? A. I told them it had been paid over to the treasurer, Mr. Merritt, and that he had turned it over to Mr. Coehms.
Q. You explained about the case being delayed, did you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Was it any of your business? A. It was my business as a citizen and a member of the organization.
The Conservatory preparatory Orchestra Recital in Memorial Chapel Monday Evening, March 22nd. Admission Free.
Q. Did you go to Judge Werner and insist that he set the date of this trial? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How many times. A. Once.
Q. What was that of your business? A. I thought that the case had been delayed long enough.
Q. Did you write him about it? A. I think I wrote one letter.
Q. Why did you take it upon yourself in a case in which you are not a party to write a letter to the presiding judge of this court in reference to this case? A. Well, because I wanted to see this man get justice.
Q. You made up your mind where justice was in this matter? A. I think I did.
Deml Testifies
John Deml, the plaintiff, was called to the witness stand late in the afternoon and was still testifying when court adjourned shortly before six o'clock. He was questioned in detail by Attorney Martin, who inquired if he had ever read his complaint. The witness wanted to know in what way.
Q. Did you ever read this paper? (handing witness his complaint).
Q. Look that over and tell whether or not you ever read that paper? A. I didn't read it all; I think that was handed to me by the sheriff in the corn field; I read part of it but didn't read it all.
Q. Is that your signature on there? A. I signed it.
Q. Didn't you swear to what was in this complaint?
Q. Did you ever know what sum of damages you asked in this case? A. $25,000.
Didn't Swear to Complaint
Q. Did anybody read this, complaint and explain what was in it? A. No, sir.
Q. You never swore to what was in this complaint? A. I never did.
Q. Who did you first talk to about getting money to carry on this case? A. I never asked anybody for a cent that I know of.
Q. When did Ballard talk to you about getting money to carry on this case? A. Ballard said he thought the Equity ought to do something.
Q. Did he tell you that before you went to Mark Catlin's office? A. He said that before we went to Madison.
Q. Who told you to go to Madison? A. Well, Capt. Heinemann told it would be best to go and see the governor.
Q. Did Ballard say he would go with you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Well, up to that time had you and Ballard talked about getting money to carry on this case? A. We talked about it on the way down.
Q. How soon did Ballard tell you that the Equity would do something to get money? A. I cannot exactly state that.
Q. How many times did Ballard talk to you about what the Equity was doing to get money for this case? A. Well, he said some of the boys had subscribed.
Deml Hesn't Paid
Q. Did he ask you to subscribe? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you subscribe a sum? A. $150.
Q. To whom did you pay that money? A. I have not paid it yet but I subscribed it.
Q. Who had the list to which you put your name? A. Ballard.
Q. Where were you when he handed it to you? A. At home.
Q. Did Ballard pick out the attorneys for you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You didn't know anything about them? A. No, sir.
Q. You didn't know who he was going to pick? A. No.
Q. You didn't know what agreement he was going to make with them? A. No.
Q. You didn't know how much a day he would pay them, or who would pay them? A. No.
Q. Mr. Ballard didn't talk to you about how long this case was going to last and how much it would cost? A. No.
Q. You thought it would be settled in a day? A. Yes, sir.
Today's Testimony
John Deml was recalled to the witness stand when court opened this morning. Attorney Martin took him back to the time he met C. B. Ballard on the Ballard road a day or two following the night raid while on his way to Appleton and spent considerable time on the incidents that followed at the district attorney's office and the office of Judge Spencer.
Q. What do you know about your witnesses in this case, did you subpoena them? Inquired Mr. Martin.
A. No, sir.
Q. Have you paid any of them anything? A. No.
Q. Who looked after the witnesses? A. I don't know.
Q. Who paid them. A. I don't know.
Q. You don't know how many witnesses you have in this case? A. No.
Ballard Recalled
C. B. Ballard was recalled by Attorney Martin who wanted to know if he was able to find copies of the letters he had written to the governor. The witness stated that he made a thorough search but was unable to locate them. He was also unable to give the name of the stenographer that wrote them.
John Herrity, county treasurer, was questioned as to the funds he had received for defraying the expense of the trial, $400.50 of which the Apple Creek local subscribed $265. He gave the names of several of the subscribers.

Both Mark Catlin and Judge Spencer related their connection with the case in regard to their refusal to issue a warrant of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Among the other witnesses who testified this morning were John Jackels, Mrs. Lillian Black, and Attorney Coehms.

Division of Markets stated today that the two-day hearing would be conducted to ascertain the margins on cheese in Wisconsin, the amounts paid the farmers or factorymen, the wholesale price, etc. Just how far the hearing will go into the production, sale and distribution of cheese at this time was not stated but it is known that Henry Krumrey, President of the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Federation and Federated Farmers' Warehouse Co., Plymouth, which has been fighting the various cheese or dairy boards for several years, and who has claimed that the packers are in almost absolute control of the cheese industry of the state, was in conference with officials of the Division of Markets here on Monday, and it is presumed he offered to produce some evidence which may be of great value to the division of Markets in its investigation.

Barney Dieringer installed a filtering gasoline station this week.
The rising waters on Monday swelled up the creeks and the first time in history water ran over the road between the Schumacher and Ryan farms.
Miss Annie De Bruin was the guest of Miss Annie Van Roy at Kaukauna on Sunday for a few hours.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fischer entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lewis of Medford at a six o'clock dinner Sunday. Cards and other amusements were enjoyed.
Next Sunday afternoon the annual meeting and election of officers of the St. Joseph society will be held. On Friday morning, March 19, the society members will receive Holy Communion.
Mike Kortenhof was a business visitor at Little Chute on Monday.

WAVERLY LODGE NO. 51, F. & A. M.

Special communication tonight. Visit of Grand Lecturer.

It has been alleged that the packers, in their fight against the Federation, which was paying its patrons the market or board price for cheese, boosted that price beyond all reason and then sold the cheese purchased for as much as 5 cents under the board price. It is also alleged that certain representatives of the packers have sold more cheese than they can show has been purchased, and it is presumed, before the investigation to be started next week is completed, the Division of Markets will go into the entire cheese industry in Wisconsin which may result in bringing to light the actual facts.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ailments? Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?
Mrs. J. Sipler, 1012 Second Ave., Appleton, says: "I can endorse the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, because I have used them and have received great benefit. I suffered from rheumatic twinges in my body. My back became lame and sore and pained so I could hardly walk. Intense pains darted through my body and I suffered a great deal. My kidneys were in poor condition, too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills on the recommendation of one of the family and they never failed to remove the backache and regulate my kidneys. The rheumatic pains were greatly relieved, too. I get Doan's at Voigt's Drug Store and rely on them faithfully."
Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sipler had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

EASY TO COMPLY WITH STATE LIGHTING CODE

Madison, Wis.—"Employers who provide their factories and workshops with the kind of lighting which insures maximum production are certain to comply with the lighting orders of the Industrial Commission," states John A. Hoeyeler, electrical engineer of the commission, in a circular letter sent today to employers throughout the state. "The legal minimum standards are only a fraction of the productive lighting standards," said Mr. Hoeyeler. "Three or four times the amount of lighting ordinarily used has a remarkably beneficial influence on production. The increased cost of such productive lighting is only a fraction of the value of the extra goods produced."
The lighting code of the Industrial Commission becomes effective as regards existing installations on July 1, 1920. This code establishes minimum standards which must be observed in all factories, mills and installations. The lighting code has been effective since July 1, 1918, and has been very generally complied with throughout the state. Wisconsin has become known throughout the country for its good factory lighting.

SCHOOL BOY FEUD RESULTS IN DEATH OF YOUNGSTER

Pueblo, Colo.—Ted, the 11 year old son of Mrs. H. A. Kuykendall, in a statement on Wednesday shortly before his death, charged he had been kicked and injured by five school boys.
Physicians say that the lad died as result of these injuries.
Five school boys arrested in connection with the death of Ted confessed, according to the police, that they had kicked the boy to death because of his high standing in the school that the boys attended.
The Kuykendall lad, suffering from severe injuries, was found behind a bill board. He died an hour afterward.
The police are withholding the names of the boys who are under arrest.
Behind the death of the lad is a school boy feud.
Ted's mother is poor. His clothes earned for him the name of "Poor" among schoolmates. Despite handicaps, the boy led his classes.
Ted, according to his statement, "whipped" two boys of his own age on Thursday when they jeered at his clothes.
On Friday five older boys attacked him and kicked him into unconsciousness.
Neighbors found him behind a bill board.

GIRL, 9, CHARGED WITH STEALING BLOOMERS

Kenosha, Wis.—A curly-haired, brown-eyed girl of 9 appeared in municipal court here charged with taking articles of clothing from a department store. A clerk declared he saw her slip a pair of silk bloomers into her muff and start to leave. He stopped her and the police were called.
"I didn't take 'em," she stoutly declared in court. "I wouldn't do that. They came along with me."
The case was adjourned until Saturday by Judges Tully, at which time the father has been asked to appear.

Platteville—Mrs. Mary Snow, widow of the late Nelson H. Snow of Mineral Point, died on Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Agnes Schroeder, in Moline, Ill. The funeral will be held at Mineral Point on Thursday. Mrs. Snow is survived by three sons, Homer S. St. Louis, William, Peru, Ill., and Charles of Platteville, and a daughter, Agnes.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF GUARDS THIS MONTH

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Following in the train of Capt. C. H. Ball, U. S. Army, who is making the federal inspection of national guard units for recognition, is Lieut. Col. L. T. Boisseau, U. S. Army, who is making the annual inspection required by orders of the War Department. His inspection takes the place of the annual inspection for competitive marking which has always been held in the guard and includes condition of armory, property, personnel, drill, etc. To date there is no property in possession of the companies and the drill, of course is as yet far from perfect as the inspection by Lieut. Col. Boisseau takes place about three weeks from the date of Capt. Ball's inspection, it requiring that length of time for the papers to go to Washington, to be approved and notice of that effect received by the Adjutant General. As Lieut. Col. Boisseau's inspections must be made on March 21, companies can have but short notice of the date of their inspections.

STATE CONFERENCE OF NURSES HAS BEEN CALLED

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—The first statewide conference of public health nurses has been called for March 30 to April 1, in the assembly chamber, Madison, by the bureau of child welfare and public health nursing. The conference is of special importance to all county nurses, and all other public health nurses desiring to affiliate with the state nursing service, as well as members of county health committees, are urged to attend.
An exhibit of original posters and pictures on public health work will be a conference feature. Nurses have been asked to send samples of this kind before March 27 to Mrs. H. H. Morgan, director of the bureau.
This state conference will be helpful, says the department's letter of invitation, because public health nursing problems differ greatly in various parts of the United States, due to differences in laws, climate, character of population and other causes.

DALE FAMILY FORCED OUT BY HOUSE SHORTAGE

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Dale—The Royal Neighbors had a surprise party for Mrs. R. W. Sommer March 9. This was also a farewell party as Mrs. Sommer is preparing to move to Fremont. The house in which she was living was purchased by C. Pribbenow and because no other house is for rent the family is forced to move out of town.
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Borgwardt entertained at dinner Sunday. Those present were Mesdames C. Borgwardt and D. Sneed of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bock, Irving Borgwardt and family, C. Pribbenow and family of Dale.
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Price and daughter of Amherst spent the first

ROCK COUNTY IN MOVE FOR FARM ORGANIZATION

Beloit, Wis.—With the announcement that a county-wide campaign to enroll every farmer in the newly organized farm bureau will be conducted in Rock county beginning March 27, R. T. Glasco, county agricultural agent, declared that committees have been appointed to investigate the feasibility of establishing a federal farm loan association in the county, the purchasing of a limestone crusher by the farmers, the buying in big quantities of mill feeds, and the building of farmers' elevators.

A joint shipping association has been formed in Janesville and others will be organized in other sections of the county.

A state organization known as the Wisconsin Federation of Farmers' Associations is contemplated. Mr. Glasco said. The state organization will be affiliated with the National Federation of Farm Bureaus, he said.

WANTS REDUCED FREIGHT RATES ON COAL IN SUMMER

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, Senator Frelinghuysen,
New Jersey, today introduced a bill requiring railroads to reduce freight rates on coal 15 per cent during the summer, to stimulate coal buying in that period. As a compensation the bill would allow the railroads to increase the rates 17 per cent above the normal tariff in the winter.

ANOTHER CHICAGO GUNMAN FORCED TO BITE THE DUST

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, —Tumult in Chicago's labor and gunmen's circles, was stirred again today with the finding of the body of Hughie Hurley. Hurley, close friend of "Sonny" Dunn, around whom many labor battles have waged, was shot in the back. Police said the body was dragged to a vacant lot after Hurley was killed in another section of the city.

two Wisconsin men from the eastern district, according to word received today by F. J. Connor, federal marshal. The sentences are those of Verne Thurston, Janesville, convicted of violating prohibition laws and that of Peter Kasperek, Prairie du Chien, convicted of transmitting threatening
letters through the mails.

MAN HOLDS DOWN TWO JOBS BY CLEVER RUSE

Racine, —The peculiar case of a man holding two jobs at the same time in two separate manufacturing concerns, came to light today when it was discovered that an employee of a large manufacturing company, who had been engaged to oil shaftings in and about the plant was also employed on the construction gang of another nearly concern.

Arriving early, to oil the main shafting before the manufacturing company plant began its operations, for the day, he punched the time clock at 6 a. m. leaving the factory unobserved at 7 o'clock to report for work with the construction outfit. Inasmuch as his work as an oiler took him all over the large plant of the former concern, it was not noticed for several weeks that he was absent the "reporter" part of the day. It is said that during the time prior to detection, the man was drawing two pay envelopes.

WOOD GETS 60 DAYS LEAVE FROM ARMY TO DO CAMPAIGN WORK

CANDIDATE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION MAKES APPLI-CATION — TWO LOW-
DEN DELEGATES

Washington.—On his own application Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, has been granted two months' leave of absence from military duties by the secretary of war. The leave will begin March 20.

Gen. Wood will employ the leave period in a speechmaking tour in the interest of his campaign for the republican nomination for president.

The application for leave was made by Gen. Wood through regular military channels and was granted promptly. Under the law, which permits an officer of the army to have thirty days' leave a year, cumulative for not more than four years, Gen. Wood was entitled to the leave granted to him. He has had little leave in recent years.

William Alden Smith, Grand Rapids, former United States senator from Michigan, expressed the opinion on Wednesday that Gen. Wood would carry the republican presidential primaries in Michigan April 5.

Congressman Frank E. Doremus of Michigan, former chairman of the democratic national congressional campaign committee, predicted on Tuesday that Attorney General Palmer would obtain the preference of Michigan democrats for the democratic nomination.

The Lowden headquarters received notification Tuesday night that two delegates to the republican national convention were chosen on Tuesday in the Ninth district of Virginia and had been instructed to support the candidacy of Lowden for the presidential nomination.

C. S. Barrett, chairman of the "questionnaire" committee of the national board of farm organizations that is preparing interrogations to be submitted to aspirants for the presidency, announced Tuesday night the work probably would be completed on Wednesday.

There was no intention, he said, to offer questions with a double meaning or to lay traps for candidates, and elimination of such pitfalls from proposed questions took much of the committee's time.

"It is the wish and the intention of the committee," he said, "to produce something to which all patriotic citizens will willingly subscribe."

SPORTSMANSHIP OF AMERICAN ATHLETES ILLUSTRATED IN ATTITUDE IN OLYMPIC GAMES

(By Henry L. Farrell)
By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—When American army officers were arranging the program for the inter-Allied games they sounded a clear note of American sportsmanship.

"They agreed to place any event on the card that had two countries entered and they went a step further by volunteering to be the second and necessary entry in any country's special or favorite game."

Being a good host, the Americans gave up fancy diving and walking events because they had all the points cinched practically. They passed up American football because it was a distinctly American sport and entered teams in the soccer and English rugby football events.

The same spirit of "meet you any game you say," is to be paramount in America's drive for victory in the Olympic games.

"Our desire is to enter teams in every event, though in many of them we haven't a chance to win," G. T. Kirby, president of the American Olympic committee, said today.

The hockey contests, in which America has just cabled an entry, is thought to be one of these sacrifices. Even down to the gymnastic contests, events which Uncle Sam has sidestepped in the past, the American shields will appear on white jerseys if the cadets of West Point or the Annapolis Midshipmen are given a furlough and allowed to compete.

If some entry blanks are not received soon, Uncle Sam can be barred from all the early closing events on a technicality. Being without the official entry cards, the committee had to take a chance on making hockey entries by cable.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

FREE MAYOR'S SON OF CHARGES OF ASSAULT

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—William O'Neill, son of Mayor Eugene O'Neill of Chippewa Falls, was acquitted by a jury of business men in Judge Jenkins' court on Tuesday of charges growing out of his alleged participation in the hickory axe handle attack made last week by his father, the mayor, upon George E. Dee, editor of the Chippewa Herald, following a series of verbal and printed exchanges between the two as the result of a long standing political quarrel.

The younger O'Neill was tried on a charge of pointing a revolver at Miss Jean Monat, Dee's stenographer, during the mayor's attack on the editor. Miss Monat was the complaining witness.

"Justifiable provocation was the defense presented by D. E. Cook, O'Neill's attorney."

O'Neill took the stand in his own behalf and testified that the "revolver" was part of a German army pistol he had picked up on the battlefield in France during the late war. The cylinder was gone and hence was not loaded.

He denied pointing the weapon at Miss Monat. He said he merely displayed it to keep off anyone who might desire to pitch in and help Dee in his tussle with his father.

District Attorney Larrabee prosecuted the case. Larrabee has refused to grant Dee's application for warrants against the mayor for his attack.

Which Bridge should a woman choose?

The Weak or the Strong One

If you see before you a strong and safe bridge leading to your goal, would you ignore it and choose some insecure and tottering structure?

If you were offered sure aid in time of trouble would you hesitate to accept it?

The answer is simple—you would choose what all evidence showed to be the safe way—and you would risk nothing in useless experiments.

Why then do some women risk one of their most precious possessions—their health—in trying medicines of unknown value, when everybody knows that the most successful remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is more proof:

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do?' Who is your doctor?" and there is only one answer, "Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines."—Mrs. Wm. Strain, 650 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

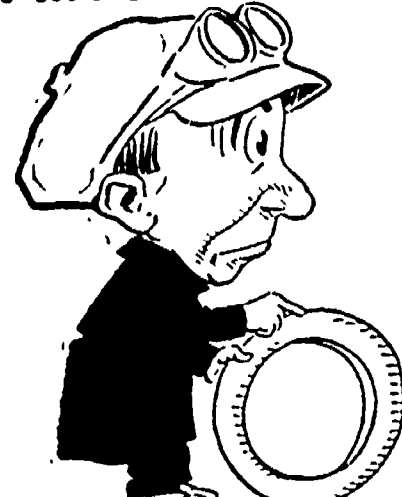

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. Strappas, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.

ORGANIZERS OF NEW PARTY ARE UNABLE TO REACH AGREEMENT

DIFFERENCES OF OPINION HAVE DEVELOPED BETWEEN LEADERS IN MILWAUKEE. KEE MEETING

Milwaukee—Radicals seem far from an agreement on the advisability of launching a new party in Wisconsin, it was learned on Wednesday.

Secret meetings here, particularly the last one, developed material differences of opinion on this political venture. A conservative wing has sprung up among the radicals. No open breach has occurred, however, and now party boomers are hopeful of harmonizing their views.

A. J. Sweet, representing the committee of forty-eight at conferences which have included representatives of the socialist party, nonpartisan league, state federation of labor, three brotherhoods of railway trainmen, and the Equity society, is one of the strongest advocates of a new party.

It is known that Mr. Sweet has been urging two points at the meetings held here. First, the necessity of a new party; second, that if it is organized it must function in a truly democratic way, including the selection of candidates by a referendum. "Some decided differences of sincere opinion marked the discussions,"

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2. and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the raw-throat tickle and soothes the inflamed membrane so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

said Mr. Sweet on Wednesday. "Those differences have been freely expressed but no open breach has developed. I think there is a good possibility that our views will be harmonized within two weeks. The big question is whether groups made up of men of intense views can get together in an emergency. A sincere effort is being made to reach an agreement."

It is understood that the socialists and the state federation of labor have not been as one on the new party proposition, and that they have taken opposite stands on some questions relating thereto.

It is known also that very distinct differences have developed between labor and the brotherhoods, the brotherhoods apparently being interested in the new party but not convinced that this is the time to spring it.

Railway men, who have not been inclined to be radical in the past, because they are well paid and have been successful in working out their own problems, represent the strong conservative element in the conference of radicals, it is said.

The Nonpartisan league, which has preferred to build up by tearing down established parties, has not been enthusiastically for the new party plan, and the same has been true of the Equity forces represented at the meetings, it was learned on Wednesday.

The point has been made by political observers that the radicals will fail to agree for the reason that the stronger groups would not be likely to enter into any so-called harmony arrangement unless they controlled, this being especially true of the socialists.

Although it appears that the socialists and labor are not as one, it is believed that in the event of a new party they would join hands in such a way that they would control, which, in the final analysis, would mean socialist domination because socialists hold the big jobs in the labor organization.

Although the Nonpartisan league is socialist, its leaders probably would not care to step aside. The Equity is considered out of it because J. M. Titterton, Equity president, is not a new party man, and for the further reason, it is believed, the society would not consent to be ruled by socialists or hobnob with its greatest political enemy, the Nonpartisan league. It is also true that the committee of forty-eight does not subscribe to some socialist doctrines, and that it would not consent to endorse some things in the St. Louis platform, but Mr. Sweet seems to think that differences will be wiped out.

All these groups have been inclined to give serious consideration to the fact that a new party would mean a sharp break with the republicans and a fight to the finish. In other words, some of the progressive principles the radicals advocate would stand a better chance at Madison under republican rule if no new party is brought out.

The farmers, labor and business men have been getting along well with the powers at Madison, and it appears that the conferences of radicals developed the view that it would be safer to continue to deal through the republican and democratic groups than to start a new organization for the purpose of gaining control of state offices and the legislature.

Much appears on the surface to indicate that the new party is far from being formed.

TEN MINUTE BRIDE SLAYS HER HUSBAND

MOCKERY AND REFUSAL TO SUPPORT CHILD CAUSE FREZZED GIRL TO KILL LOVER

Norfolk, Va.—The "ten-minute bride" will shortly go on trial here for killing her husband, Gordon Cumming.

The defense will stress the claim that Cumming, who married her under a "ten-minute" agreement to give her baby a name, threatened to take the child away from her.

Leaving her 10 minutes after the ceremony, Cumming complained that she "bothered" him afterward and, it is claimed, his unrelenting attitude toward her brought about the fatal shooting.

Cumming met Mittle Jester in her father's fish shop in Hampton Roads a dozen years ago. She makes no division of the blame now for what happened. She knew he was married, but continued to see him.

Four years after they met she was the mother of a boy. She christened him Kenneth.

Cumming was a leading lawyer of the state.

Then came his divorce and Mittle Jester turned to him and beseeched him to give a name to the baby she loved. She signed an agreement that their wedding would be in name only and that she would not oppose his divorce and would go her own way and leave him to his career. He gave her $5 a week.

She went barefoot sometimes to support the child, and when she asked Cumming for aid he mocked her, she says.

Once she asked him to give her just a little to "bring Santa Claus to Kenneth." He told her that was silly sentimentality, she alleges.

Cumming was nearly 50. He was twice in the State Assembly and his eyes were toward the governor's chair.

Mrs. Cumming will contend that when he threatened to take the child away from her if she didn't stop bothering him, she was driven into a frenzy which caused her to shoot him.

As he fell she knelt by his side crying her love for him and begging him not to die.

IRELAND'S CAUSE IS PLACED BEFORE APPLETON PEOPLE

J. L. O'CONNOR, FORMER ATTORNEY GENERAL, ASSERTS IRELAND IS OPPRESSED NATION

Ireland's right to self-determination and government with the consent of the governed, was set forth in a splendid address by J. L. O'Connor, Milwaukee, at Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday night. The speaker compared the principles of Americans in revolutionary days to the Irish of today, showing that both sought alike freedom, liberty and happiness.

"Those who deny liberty to others should not themselves have it, and cannot long retain it," the speaker declared, quoting the words of Washington.

"There is a power above that shapes the destinies of people and nations," O'Connor said. "It is the same power that placed the planets, painted the lilies, and gives perfume to the roses. Someone has said that the mills of the Gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small. The declaration of independence declared that all men are created equal, and are endowed with certain inalienable rights as the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; these principles were the same as those proclaimed by the Master on the shores of Galilee. These are fundamental Christian principles."

"We entered the war to secure the liberties and freedom of the smaller nations as well as the large. We entered the war to make the world safe for democracy. He who denies this places our spokesmen in an embarrassing position, places the spokesmen of all the nations in embarrassing positions. Or else the people were deceived while the war was being fought, or after the war was won."

"There was an understanding won in the agony and battle of No Man's Land but lost in the easy chair at Paris. Democracy came out from that conference stooped, and with body wounded. What right did Ireland have before the conference. What chance did the Irish have there? They, as everyone else, thought we fought for those principles of democracy which defend the smaller as well as the larger nation."

"If this meeting were being held in Ireland it would be dispersed by armed machine guns, and every article of war, including even perhaps poison gas. And I would either be killed in cold blood or starved in prison. We may in America raise our hands to Heaven and thank God that we here are not the subject of any imperialistic power."

"The constitution says all men are created equal. Do you repudiate that principle? England has ruled Ireland for 700 years and not for one single hour has the government been with the consent of the governed."

"I do not plead that might makes right. We plead only that justice makes right. Self-determination is the right of Ireland. For seven hundred years, Ireland has been oppressed, trampled on; it has suffered 700 years of martyrdom."

"There is no quarrel between the people of Ireland and England, the speaker declared. He told how 2,500 English delegates representing 4,000,000 English had declared themselves for Irish independence.

"The British propagandists were responsible for much of the anti-Irish sentiment in America," O'Connor charged.

O'Connor discussed the several objections made to self-determination. Quoting Premier Asquith, he declared that the Irish are a distinct race.

"The Irish don't want self-determination? Eighty per cent voted in favor of a republic at an election. What better sentiment of self-determination is there. Is there any officer of the city of Appleton who has ever been elected unanimously?"

women in Memorial hall of the City Y. W. C. A. "They will find themselves in the long run sympathetic to some party, and will be more useful voters if they are."

"Organization is the only way to get results, and so political parties are formed, which define the mass issues and form them into a definite program. The result is not a mixture of various whims of the public mind."

"Many think that women will form a third party, a party having some distinct hobby. Such a group never wins by itself. If the women wish to have a real voice in politics they must begin to work before elections. Let their opinions be known to party leaders, vote at primaries and at all elections, and see that party managers are supported so that a few managers who hold the purse strings do not run the party."

U. S. ISSUES WARNING ON USE OF CANNED GOODS

Washington, D. C.—Failure of some packers to use a sufficiently high temperature during sterilization of ripe olives in glass containers permitted development of the botulinus germ, which caused the deaths of twenty-five persons two months ago, said a report of specialists of the bureau of chemistry, who have just concluded an investigation in co-operation with the public health service.

The poison would develop just the same in tin containers, the report showed, if the olives were not sufficiently processed, but as there is no danger of breakage involved in tin, the packer does not hesitate to apply the proper degree of heat to kill the germ in sterilization.

The investigation disclosed only one fatality where a tin container was involved, but this contained a relish consisting of minced ripe olives, the poison forming through inadequate processing.

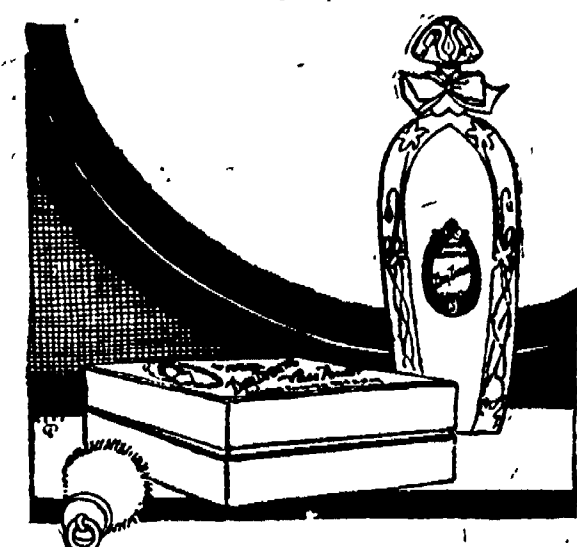

In connection with the report of the investigators the department of agriculture issued another warning to producers to destroy any article showing the least evidence of spoilage.

The net earnings of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. for 1919, amounted to $60,243,388, as compared with $54,293,017 in 1918. This gain was made despite an increase in operating expenses of almost $3,500,000.

The state of Ohio led the nation in the purchase of war savings stamps in 1919.

FACE POWDER so exclusive—so unusually soft and velvety, with a fragrance so fascinatingly new. It is "just a little better than the one you thought the best"—adorably different—Day Dream Face Powder.
